THE BATTLE ON SATURDAY.

CINCINNATI, Monday, Sept. 21.

The Commercial of this city gives the following account of the great battle near Chattanooga on Saturday:

"The battle opened at 11 o'clock in the vicinity of Widow Glens, on the road leading from McLamore's Cave to Chattanooga.

The fighting soon became general, the rebels manœuvering their troops finely.

Early in the action the rebels made an impetuous charge on the famous Loomis battery, and captured five out of the six guns belonging to it. Capt. VAN PELT, commanding the battery, was taken prisoner.

At 2 o'clock the contest was perfectly terrific, the roll of musketry being far more continuous and deafening than at Stones River.

At 2:40 P. M., our division centre was pushed, broken, and retreated in disorder.

Col. BARNETT planted a battery and soon checked the pursuing enemy, who, in turn, were driven over the same ground.

The division of Gen. DAVIS was then driven back by the rebels with heavy loss, and every gun of the Eighth Indiana regiment was captured, when Gen. DAVIS rallied his forces and pushed the enemy back and retook the guns.

REYNOLDS, lost heavily, but stubbornly held his position, driving the enemy, but never leaving his line.

PALMER, who was overwhelmed, failed to get off his whole battery, and two guns were lost.

VAN CLEVE, although fighting gallantly, lost ground, and being overpowered, failed to regain his position.

Our line was pressed severely and wavered.

The rebels exulting over their apparent success, made the air resound with cheers. They advanced along the whole line, and when within fire the musketry rolled from right to left, and till 5 o'clock the fighting was terrific.

Gen. ROSECRANS grew anxious; the wounded came pouring in, and the rebels kept steadily moving up to his headquarters.

New forces were opposed to the rebels, and from this time till dark the battle raged with destructive fury.

At dusk when the firing had almost ceased, the rebels threw forward fresh troops and engaged our right.

The action again became general until long after dark, and raged with the greatest fury.

The battle thus far has been a bloody one and our loss is very heavy.

Rebel prisoners say that some of their regiments are almost annihilated.

Both armies occupy the same ground as when the action began.

We have captured several hundred prisoners, many of whom are from the East.

We took ten guns and lost seven.

FURTHER REPORTS FROM NASHVILLE.

Dispatch to the Washington Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Sunday, Tenn., Sept. 20.

There has been great excitement here all day, as it became known early this morning that BRAGG and ROSECRANS had met in battle. From officers who have arrived I learn that BRAGG, reinforced by at least one division from LEE's army, attacked ROSECRANS yesterday morning, causing considerable confusion in THOMAS' corps. The fight took place in Walker County, which is full of creeks and mountains. As near as I can learn, it was drive on one side, and then the other, neither gaining much advantage. The divisions of Generals VAN CLEVE and REYNOLDS suffered to some extent, and after losing much ground, recovered it. There was considerable hand-to-hand fighting, and several pieces of artillery were captured, recaptured, and lost again. As at the battle of Stone River, Generals PALMER and NEGLEY manœuvred their respective divisions splendidly, and assisted VAN CLEVE in recovering lost ground. The artillery was not called into requisition in all the divisions. The Tenth Indiana suffered most, and lost all its field officers. The Thirty-first Illinois, Fortieth Kentucky and Second Ohio also assisted in the brunt of the action. It is believed at Gen. GRANGER'S headquarters (Nashville) that the struggle ended yesterday (Saturday 19th) with no Federal disadvantages, though the most absurd rumors have prevailed the entire day. The Secessionists here had Gens. NEGLEY, STANLEY and PALMER killed, but news of an official character states that neither are injured. The presumption is that, (considering BURNSIDE has not established communication with ROSECRANS,) Gen. JOHNSTON, who was in command, calculated to crawl in between the two armies, crush BURNSIDE's force, which was comparatively small, and then pounce upon ROSECRANS, thus whipping us by detail. In this, no doubt, he has failed, as the rebel forces stumbled against THOMAS' corps of ROSECRANS' army. There would, probably, have been no vacillating upon our side, had it not been that the respective commands were under marching orders and moving independently. Our latest dispatches, received at Gen. GRANGER'S, are of a nature which must enlist no apprehensions as to the result.

THE BATTLE ON SUNDAY.

LOUISVILLE, Monday, Sept. 21—12:45 A. M.

Our army under Gen. ROSECRANS has been badly beaten, and compelled to retreat to Chattanooga, by BRAGG, with heavy reinforcements from LEE, BEAUREGARD and JOE JOHNSTON.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Sept. 21.

The National Republican says:

"The enemy attacked ROSECRANS again on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock with overwhelming numbers. The battle raged fiercely all day.

According to the latest accounts received here up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, which left Chattanooga at 8 o'clock last evening, two, and only two, of Gen. ROSECRANS' divisions gave way in utter panic and confusion. But, from 8,000 to 10,000 of these had been rallied and got back to their places; while the remainder of the army had not given away or retreated, and at the latest moment was driving the advance of the rebel army back.

This we know is the latest news here.

The number of killed and wounded on both sides will probably not fall short of thirty thousand.

THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

An Attack by Guerrillas—Capture of $2,200,000 in Confederate Funds—Desertions from the Enemy.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Sept. 21.

Rear-Admiral PORTER, writing to the Navy Department from Cairo, under date of Sept. 15, says:

"The river below seems quiet. There has beenbut one attempt made to obstruct commerce or navigation. A body of guerrillas attacked the gunboat Champion from behind the levee while she was conveying a body of troops below. The troops passed on safely and the Champion stopped and fought the rebels until she made them retire, losing some of their men—report says fifty-seven. They have not been heard of since, except that they were falling back on Alexandria, Gen. HERRON having given them chase with his division.

As I came up I overtook a part of the Marine brigade, under Col. CURRY. He reported to me that he had just captured at Bolliver three rebel paymasters, with $2,200,000 in Confederate money, to pay off the soldiers at Little Rock. He also captured the escort, consisting of thirty-five men. This will not improve the dissatisfaction now existing in Gen. PRICE'S army, and the next news we hear will be that Gen. STEELE has possession of Little Rock.

The gunboats pick up deserters every day, who say the rebels don't intend to fight in Arkansas, and that with proper steps she will be in the Union again in forty days. Lieut. BACHE captured a Col. MAYROCK, who was on a conscription expedition, and it gave unusual satisfaction to all the people."

FROM MISSOURI AND KANSAS.

Soldiers Shot by Guerrillas—A Steamboat Burned—Refugees—Gen. Hunter—Quantrell's Movements.

ST. LOUIS, Monday, Sept. 21.

The steamer Marcella was boarded and plundered, on the 15th inst., at Dover Landing, Lafayette County. The soldiers of the Fifth State militia, returning home on furlough, were taken two miles into the woods and shot. The boat was burned.

During the past week 1,000 persons have crossed the river at Lexington, mostly refugees from the border counties. Cass County, under Gen. EWING'S order, is nearly depopulated.

Gen. HUNTER has arrived, to preside over the commission to investigate the burning of the steamer Ruth.

A Leavenworth dispatch to the Democrat says a messenger, who came to Fort Scott on Wednesday night, reports COFFEE at Cowstain Prairie with 1,500 men, and that QUANTRELL had passed Ball's Mills with most of his command on his way south, probably to join COFFEE. A company of the Second Kansas (colored) and the Third Wisconsin cavalry regiment are a few miles from COFFEE'S rendezvous.

BLUNT was on his way up with a small escort.

THE WAR IN LOUISIANA.

A Successful Expedition to Alexandria.

CAIRO, Sunday, Sept. 20.

An expedition under Gen. C. RICKER, from Natchez to Alexandria, captured several cannon, and destroyed a fortification at Alexandria. A large quantity of mules, stores and cattle were also captured.

THE LATE FIGHT NEAR KNOXVILLE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Wednesday, Sept. 16.

On Wednesday, Lieut.-Col. CAYES, with 300 men of the One Hundredth Ohio regiment was attacked near Tilford, 23 miles up the railroad, by 1,800 rebels, under Gen. JACKSON.

After fighting gallantly for two hours, our forces losing heavily in killed and wounded, were compelled to surrender to overpowering numbers.

[The rebel journals have already reported this affair as having occurred near Jonesboro.—ED. TIMES.]

INTERESTING FROM JAPAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Monday, Sept. 21.

Arrived, ship Herald of the Morning, from Boston.

A private letter from the American Minister, Mr. PRUYN, dated at Kanagawa, Japan, Aug. 10th, says, that the prompt resentment of the outrage upon our flag has resulted most favorably. The Wyoming, with six guns, destroyed a Japanese steamer, bark and brig, mounting twenty-two guns, besides engaging six batteries. The accomplishment of so much with so little means, astonished the Government and people of Japan, and, what is strange, the Government is obliged to us.

Other advices, of the same date, say the British fleet had gone to SATIMER'S dominions to demand £25,000 indemnity and the surrender of the murderers of Mr. RICHARDSON. If the money is not paid a considerable campaign would be inaugurated against the Damios.

Dates from Shanghai to the 21st July, state that the cholera was unabated and the mortality fearful.

Break in the Erie Canal.

ALBANY, Monday, Sept. 21.

The heavy rain of last Friday caused a break in the Erie Canal, at Hoffman's Ferry. The break extends 100 feet, and the earth was washed to the depth of 10 feet below the bottom of the canal. Boats will not be able to pass before Wednesday morning.

Difficulty Between Citizens and Soldiers in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Monday, Sept. 21.

Last night a difficulty occurred, on the corner of Bigral and Spring streets, between some citizens and soldiers, in which three of the former were wounded.

Arrival of Cotton at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., Monday, Sept. 21.

The steamer Edwin Hawkins, from Matamoras, with a full load of cotton for Liverpool, arrived here to-day.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Sept. 21.

ADVANCE OF CAVALRY.

A movement of the Army of the Potomac has commenced, so far as to send forward BUFORD'S cavalry across the Rapidan. The crossing was effected without opposition. It is prophesied that but a feeble force of rebels intervenes between MEADE and Richmond. Commanders who have doubted the accumulated evidence of many detachments sent from LEE'S army southward, now seem inclined to admit the fact, since the news of the Chattanooga battle has begun to arrive, ROSECRANS is fighting the whole Southern Confederacy.

DISAPPEARANCE OF REBEL FORCES.

A gentleman who left Falmouth a few days ago, reports that there was no rebel force in or near Fredericksburgh, and but few pickets were to be seen. The same party says there is only one brigade as low down as Germania, on the Rapidan.

A MARAUDING PARTY.

There is only one squad of rebel troops now north of the Rappahannock and east of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. These men are on a marauding excursion to pick up stragglers, whom they strip of everything valuable, and then let go. Two men, with Drs. SMITH and RICHARDS, of the Michigan cavalry brigade, were captured Sunday, between Hartwood Church and Catlett's Station, and this morning they came into camp stripped of everything.

DRAFT MATTERS.

It having been ascertained that able-bodied men, after passing as substitutes, have sent to the general rendezvous others disqualified for military service, but answering to the same name, the Provost-Marshal-General directs that Provost-Marshals be held responsible for delivering the identical men who have passed examination. Members of the Board of Enrollment are also notified that any neglect or violation of paragraphs 86, 93, 94 and 95 of the regulations for Provost-Marshals will result in the dismissal of the offender.

SWINDLING OF THE REBEL COMMISSIONER OF EXCHANGES.

The Bureau of Exchange here received a letter a day or two since from Commissioner OULD, at Richmond, notifying them that twelve thousand prisoners paroled by Gen. GRANT, had been returned to the field, and in exchange, referred to the same number of our prisoners delivered at City Point. The whole statement in regard to delivery was a lie; not a man of ours had been returned for those twelve thousand, who were then armed, and have doubtless participated in the late battle at Chattanooga.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Capt. BARKER, Fifth New-York cavalry, was seriously wounded near Kelly's Ford on Thursday last. There is some reason to believe that the shot was fired by a deserting conscript, to avoid being captured.

A RAILROAD PROTECTED.

The Orange and Alexandria Railroad is now thoroughly guarded as far as Culpepper Court-house, mostly by detachments from the Eleventh corps.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

Receipts of internal revenue to-day have been $485,316, the largest amount ever received in one day. The receipts from this source are steadily increasing.

THE MEXICAN AMBASSADOR.

Gen. CORTES had an interview to-day with the Secretary of State with reference to his mission from the Juarez authorities.

LEFT FOR NEW-YORK.

Assistant Secretary of State FREDERICK SEWARD left for New-York this morning, to be absent three or four days.

DESPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A CHASE AFTER THE GUERRILLA WHITE.

Reliable information has reached Washington that at noon on Friday last Col. LOWELL, in command of the Second Massachusetts regiment and detachments of the Thirteenth and Sixteenth New-York cavalry, started out in pursuit of the guerilla WHITE. Col. LOWELL found that WHITE had crossed Goose Creek at Cockrell's Ford and crossed the country in nearly a straight line toward Mount Gilead and Hughesville, passing near Ball's Mills at 11 o'clock on that day. The trail of WHITE's men was discerned early on the morning of the 19th, and was followed to a point near Mount Gilead. Satisfactory evidence then appearing that WHITE was back on the Snickersville road, Col. LOWELL returned to Dover and Aldie to camp. As the result of the expedition three of WHITE's men were captured and one killed. Four citizens on horseback were also arrested under suspicious circumstances. In some of the places visited by Col. LOWELL, he was informed that WHITE had notified the rebels that they had been conscripted; but no steps it appears had been taken to force them into the rebel service. It was currently reported at Aldie that both WHITE and MOSEBY had received orders to leave Loudon County, and move nearer to the main body of LEE's army.

All the guerrillas that have been recently at home have gone West within a day or two.

BLOCKADE RUNNERS CAPTURED.

The Navy Department has received information of the capture of the schooner Flying Scud, by the steamer Princess Royal, on the 12th ult. She was from Brazos, Texas, loaded with cotton.

The U. S. bark Gem of the Sea, on the 31st ult., off Charleston Harbor, Fla., captured the sloop Richard, five tons burden, loaded with 8½ bales of cotton.

SILVER BAR CONTRIBUTION FROM NEVADA.

Private advices from Virginia City, Nevada Territory, say additional subscriptions to the amount of $9,000 have been made there for the Sanitary Commission. The money is to be forwarded in silver bricks of about $1,000 each. A good evidence of the mineral resources of that Territory, as well as of the liberality of its inhabitants.

EXECUTION OF DESERTERS.

A letter from the Army of the Potomac to-night states that many of the substitutes who had deserted were shot in the several corps towards the close of last week, and prompt and extreme punishment now awaits this class of offenders, without hope of pardon.

THE NIAGARA READY FOR SEA.

The magnificent steamship Niagara, of 5,000 tons, and with her enormous battery, is now ready for sea at Boston, where she has remained so as to be conveniently near to those patriotic fishermen who have so long manifested an earnest desire to enlist in the navy. The early departure of the steamship is desired in apprehension of the advent of JOHN LAIRD'S rebel rams, with the connivance of the British Government. The enlistment of the fishermen has been retarded owing to an unusually successful fishing season and the advance of the price of fish. Success in their labors makes them very independent. In view of rich prizes it is supposed that the business of recruiting for the navy will be additionally stimulated.

THE EXEMPTIONS UNDER THE ENROLLMENT ACT.

It may not be generally known that the causes which exempt from service under the Enrollment act are not as numerous as those governing the military service in Europe. The examinations under that act are conducted with about the same particularity as in our regular army. The list of causes was prepared by a Board of Surgeons, and sanctioned by the military authorities, apart from any agency of the Provost-Marshal-General.

EXPLOITS OF A SCOUTING PARTY.

A scouting party has been patrolling the country between the Occoquan, Dumfries and Brentsville for the last five days, during which they have scattered the rebel guerrillas, captured one of them and a number of their horses, and brought in nine deserters

THE BLOODIEST FIGHTING OF THE WAR.

OUR CAPTURES AND CASUALTIES

CHATTANOOGA, Tuesday, Sept. 22.

The battle on the 19th resulted well for us, we having held our own as entablished on our left, and concentrated our forces during the day; and on Sunday morning we held a handsome line, with our right on a ridge of hills and our left protected by rude works of logs thrown up during the night. Our left rested on the east side of Rossville and Lafayette, about four miles south of Rossville.

In the fight of the 19th we had lost about 600 killed and 2,000 wounded, and were ahead three pieces of artillery; and the men were in splendid spirits.

The engagement was resumed at 9 o'clock on the morning of the 20th by attempts of the rebels to storm Gen. THOMAS' left and front. They were severely repulsed several times with heavy loss to them and very little to us. This fight last an hour and a half, and was the most terrific of the war, a continuous fire of musketry and artillery being kept up with deadly effect.

During this fight our right and centre were not engaged—our skirmishers keeping up a halting fire.

The enemy, finding their assaults vain, manœuvered to the left with the intention of throwing a force on the Roseville road and attacking THOMAS on the left flank. At this juncture THOMAS ordered Gen. BRANNAN, who had one brigade in reserve and two with REYNOLDS, holding the key of the position, which was THOMAS's right, to move to the left of the line, to protect the flank of Gen. ROSECRNS, and at the same time sent DAVIS and VAN CLEVE from the right and centre to support BRANNAN in the effort to hold the line to Rossville, and protect THOMAS's right.

On seeing the withdrawal of the skirmishers in front of the division, which was moving from the right and centre, the enemy made a vigorous attack on that part of the line, piercing the centre, cutting off DAVIS and SHERIDAN from the left, and driving the centre into the mountains, both right and centre being much scattered, without very serious loss in killed or wounded.

The right and centre gone, THOMAS' right became exposed to a most terrific flank attack, and REYNOLDS and BRANNON, and the right of THOMAS' line was swung around. His extreme left being as at first, this also fell back a short distance on the Rossville road.

Parts of the centre were gathered up and reported to THOMAS, who made several stands, but was unable to check the rebel advance until the arrival of reinforcements. At 1 o'clock, Gen. GRANGER, with one division of reserves, came up, and was at once thrown into the centre, driving the enemy handsomely from his position on a strong ridge, with heavy loss. The fire from one of GRANGER'S batteries mowed them down like grass.

This fight lasted about half an hour, with slight loss to us. Capt. RUSSELL, Gen. GRANGER'S Adjutant, was killed before we had been ten minutes in the fight. After this bloody repulse the enemy remained quiet until 4 o'clock, persisting, however, in manœvering on both flanks. Their full and correct information regarding this country enabled them to do so with great facility.

Having gotten again on our flank the enemy made a vigorous attack, and a fight ensued, which has no parallel in the history of this army.

Col. HARKER'S brigade and Gen. WOOD'S division distinguished themselves in the fight.

Gen. WOOD, Col. HARKER and Gen. GARFIELD were present, and with the remnant of Gen. JOHNSON'S division held the left, and covered himself with glory.

On the right and centre, Gens. BRANNON, BAIRD REYNOLDS and PALMER, with parts of their divisions, fought most gallantly, while Gens. STEDMAN and GRANGER held the reserve, and drove the enemy at every point where they went in.

At 5 o'clock, Gen. THOMAS was still triumphant, and on the left held his line of the morning, but with the right of the enemy nearly back to his line, nearly at right angles with that of the morning. Two lines of retreat were open to Gen. THOMAS to Chattanooga, one of which he fell back to—to Rossville—during the night. Our losses have necessarily been heavy but the list of killed will be surprisingly light, and in the two days' engagement we have not suffered more in men than the enemy. In the charge by Gen. THOMAS, on the first day, the enemy lost as many in killed as we did in the whole day. What the losses in prisoners and material are cannot now be reported. Our killed will reach 1,200; our wounded will amount to 7,000—most of them slight wounds.

Among the general officers killed are Gen. Lytle, Col. Key, Col. King, commanding brigade, and Col. Bartleton, of the One hundred and first Illinois. Among the wounded are Gen. Morton, of Gen. Rosecrans' Staff; Col. Craxter, Fourth Kentucky; Col. Frankhouse, Ninety-eighth Illinois; Lieut.-Col. Mudge, Eleventh Michigan; Lieut.-Col. Hunt, Fourth Kentucky; Col. Bradley, commanding brigade in Sheridan's division; Col. Chas. Anderson, Sixth Ohio; Maj. Mildman, Eighteenth Kentucky; Lieut.-Col. Tripp, Sixth Indiana; Lieut.-Col. Bryan, Seventy-fifth Indiana; Col. Armstrong, Ninety-third Ohio; Maj. Johnston, Twenty-second Illinois, and Lieut.-Col. Maxwell, of the Second Ohio—all slightly wounded.

Lieut.-Col. Vaughan, of the Seventh Kentucky; Col. Stanley, of the Eighteeth Chio, and Maj. Dawson, of the Nineteeth Infantry, were all slightly wounded.

Gen. John H. King is reported wounded and a prisoner.

We have captured Gen. Adams, of Texas, and 1,300 of his men.

FROM LOUISVILLE.

Various Rumors and Reports—Grant to the Rescue—Rosecrans and Bragg Still Fighting—Arrest of a Quarmaster—The Tobacco Crop.

LOUISVILLE, Monday, Sept. 21—11:45 P. M.

Not a word has been received from ROSECRANS' army to-day.

The reports here that the rebels in considerable numbers were coming into Eastern Kentucky, through Pound Gap, are untrue.

Rumors, impossible to authenticate now, prevail; among them that a large part of GRANT'S army is rapidly moving forward to aid ROSECRANS; that the engagement between ROSECRANS' and BRAGG'S armies is still progressing, &c.

The military authorities here do not believe that any very seriously disastrous results have occurred to ROSECRANS' army.

Capt. SAMUEL BLACK, Assistant-Quartermaster in charge of forage, has been arrested on charge of fraud.

The tobacco market is excited, and largely advanced on account of the injury to the crops by the frosts of Friday and Saturday nights.

There has been no disturbance of the telegraph lines between this place and Chattanooga.

Proceedings Against a Union Newspaper.

ST. LOUIS, Monday, Sept. 21.

On Friday last, the Union newspaper, a semi-official organ of Gen. SCHOFIELD and the conservatives, published an editorial reflecting on Gen. EWING for depopulating certain border counties. On Saturday, Capt. PRICE, of the First Kansas regiment, made out charges and specifications, charging D. M. GRISSOM, editor of the Union, with violating SCHOFIELD'S Order No. 96, by publishing matter calculated to embarrass the military authorities, and filed them with the Adjutant-General, demanding an investigation. Mr. GRISSON has not yet been arrested; but, as Capt. PRICE is not the man to withdraw his charges, it seems that the organ of the authors of the order is likely to be the first victim.

Fire in Poughkeepsie.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Monday, Sept. 21—midnight.

A large brick chair factory on Water-street is in one sheet of flame. Hundreds of poor families will be thrown out of employment by this disaster. It was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. The loss will be $50,000.

Illness of Cuba—Government Loan.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Sept. 21.

CUBAS, the celebrated danseuse, is lying dangerously ill at the Girard House.

The sales of Five-twenties to-day amounted to $463,150. Deliveries of bonds are made to Sept. 16.

Affairs on the Mississippi.

PORT HUDSON, NATCHEZ, BATON ROUGE, VICKSBURGH AND HELENA.

The correspondent of the St. Louis Republican thus sums up the condition of affairs at these places:

"Port Hudson is almost abandoned so far as Federal soldiers are concerned. The necessities of Gen. BANKS' expedition have required most of the men at that place, and as it was of no special advantage to the Government to hold that point, it has been partially evacuated. The number of men now there will not exceed one thousand.

At Natchez affairs seem to remain the same as on the day Gen. RANSOM took possession. They live under the Federal rule as quietly as if the best specimen of a rebel General was giving them orders to obey.

Business is dull, but not any more so than would be expected. The wants of the people are few and easily supplied, and so long as the people from the adjoining country are not allowed to come to trade, will business be as it is now. It was stated a few days since in New-Orleans that the Secretary of the Treasury had opened trade in that town. As soon as the report got currency, the people began to show signs of opening their stores, in anticipation of a brisk business, but the next steamer from New-Orleans contradicted the statement, and the old condition of things was immediately resumed.

There are about the same number of Federal troops at Baton Rouge as at any time since the occupation of that place by the army of the Union. This seems to be strange to those in command. The General commanding that post has repeatedly asked to be put in the field, but Baton Rouge is at present his fixed spot.

Vicksburgh, in a military and commercial point of view, is completely dead. There does not seem to be enough people—I mean the residents—to keep them from the grave one week. Soldiers and citizens walk about the rough streets as if they did not wish to arrive at their point of destination. The people are demoralized and lazy.

The health of the soldiers is pretty good, at least better than it was some days since. Depopulating the city of troops, or rather only having enough to do garrison duty, has had a salutary effect on the health of the town. Gen. SHERMAN'S corps still occupies its old position out near the Big Black River. The men and officers composing it manifest signs of uneasiness and discontent. They are anxious to be on the move. The country and camp begin to produce a desire to go somewhere—they are not particular where, so that they are moved. The furloughed soldiers who have returned seem joyous and happy. They all say they are determined to stay in the army till the rebellion is crushed, and as much longer as the Government requires their services.

Helena is fast assuming a military position, which makes the people want to hear from there as often as possible. Some very anxious people in Memphis have suggested the propriety of establishing a daily line of packets between the two places.

AMERICAN TOPICS IN ENGLAND.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

THE REBEL RAMS TO BE DETAINED.

The London Morning Post, (official) in a short article respecting the two iron-clads building at Liverpool, says:

"There is now, we believe, little doubt that under the terms of the Foreign Enlistment act they are to be detained by Government. The allegation against them is, that they are fitted out for the purpose of carrying on hostilities against the United States. On the other hand, it is contended that they were built by order of a French house for the late Pasha of Egypt, who gave the firm a commission for the coinage of a large sum of money in France, and for the construction of two steam rams in England. The money was duly coined and received in Egypt. The vessels were in course of construction when the Pasha died, and his successor repudiated that part of the contract. What the French house intends to do with them is not known. The accusation is that they are destined for war with a friendly Power; they will consequently be detained, and a Court of Law will determine whether, under the terms of the Foreign Enlistment act, the detention is legal, or whether the owners can recover them from the hands of the Government."

NO DOUBT OF THE DESTINATION OF THE VESSELS.

From the London Star, Sept. 8,

We have now French authority for stating that the Liverpool steam-rams are not intended for France. The Constitutionnel reassures the world upon that point, if any assurance was required. The same authority asserts that the rams are for the Pasha of Egypt. We are in a position to give the assertion the most unqualified denial. They are not for the Egyptian Government; and if Earl RUSSELL, in the course of the anxious inquiries he takes credit for making, would adopt the simple course of asking the representatives of those Governments whose names are made a convenience of by the Confederate ship-builders and their friends, he would soon discover that the vessels can have no other than an illegal destination. So easy is the process of discovering whether or not these vessels are commissioned by any Power having a right to employ British ports for the purpose, that we cannot regard Earl RUSSELL'S reply to the Emancipation Society and the legal difficulties expatiated on in any other light than mere quibbles, calculated to stimulate evasions of the law, and to protect the wrong-doers. The inquiries which would establish the conclusive fact that the vessels have no legitimate parentage lie within the domain of the Foreign Office. It will not do for his lordship to attempt to escape responsibility by leaving the duty to the Treasury and Home Departments alone. Has the Foreign Office, we ask, taken the trouble to inquire at the various foreign embassies whether these vessels are the property of any State or potentate against whom the Foreign Enlistment Act would not at present apply? It is of the utmost importance to obtain this negative evidence of the illegal ownership, as His Lordship puts forward the necessity of proving not only the equipment of the vessels for purposes of war, but also that the owners intend to use them against some State or community in friendship with Her Majesty. * * *

A ship fitted for purposes of war, if not armed, might be suffered to leave if her destination was a foreign port for purposes of sale. But an armed ship cannot be allowed to leave on any consideration, her armor placing her at once in a different catagory, demanding firmer treatment on the part of those Governments which desire to deal honorably with neutrals. It shuts up the investigation to the one point—by which of the foreign Powers has these vessels been ordered? No private person has a right to commission any one to build an armed ship for sale; so that the idea that either Mr. LAIRD or any mad foreigner desired to run the blockade with these vessels and to sell them in the foreign port is excluded from consideration. Governments alone have the right to deal with arms and armed ships. If Earl Russell, therefore, will be kind enough to send a clerk round the various embassies, he, and any jury to whom he may submit the question, on receiving their answer in the negative, will be shut up to the conclusion that the rams are for the Confederates, or some other illegal purpose. If his lordship be still blinded by the quibbles which he himself has raised, let us remind him that the builder of the rams built the Alabama, under contract with the same Government—a fact which is patent to the whole world since the publication of the correspondence between the United States Ambassador and his lordship. There has been no judicial investigation regarding the Alabama, but the law officers of the Crown decided that her equipment was a breach of the Foreign Enlistment act, and recommended her to be stopped, while her proceedings since have been too notorious to require to be judicially investigated. Mr. LAIRD, therefore, and any vessels he may build, do not stand in the same position as if no such fact occurred. He has already done illegal work for the same insolent belligerent who contemns the prerogatives of the British sovereign. Now that he, a suspected person, is again found in suspicious circumstances, the Government will incur a most serious responsibility should he be permitted to complete his disloyal and pernicious designs.

A TIMELY PARALLEL.

The News gives at length the history of the Maury, and alluding to the conduct of the builders and the Government, it says:

"If the steam-rams now lying in the Mersey are not intended for the Confederates it would be interesting to know for whom they are intended. And if Messrs. LAIRD will only act in the same spirit which actuated Messrs. Low, of New-York, they will not only enable the Government to execute the law, but will relieve themselves from the just suspicion of endangering the peace of their country for the miserable profit of a few thousand pounds.

COMMENTS ON LORD RUSSELL'S LETTER.

From the London Times, Sept. 8.

Does Lord RUSSELL require evidence that the steam rams are to be navigated and fought by their present owners, or only that they are to be navigated and fought by somebody or other to the prejudice of a friendly Power? On this discrimination the whole case will practically turn. It cannot be deemed unlikely that these vessels will find their way some day or other to the hands of the Confederates, and be employed against the United States; but it is highly unlikely that their present owners will be engaged in the employment. If the latter condition is requisite to constitute the unlawfulness of the transaction, we may

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Death of Ex-Judge Bronson.

SUPREME COURT, GENERAL TERM, SEPT. 21—BEFORE JUDGES SUTHERLAND, LEONARD AND INGRAHAM.

Ex-Justice ROOSEVELT this morning interrupted the regular business of the Court in order to introduce the following token of respect to the memory of GREENE C. BRONSON:

To the Supreme Court:

In behalf of ourselves and our brethren of the Bar of the City of New-York, we respectfully request the Court to enter on its minutes the accompanying tribute of respect to the memory of GREENE C. BRONSON, who departed this life on the 3d day of September, 1863, in the 74th year of his age.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 21, 1863.

JAMES J. ROOSEVELT,
DANIEL LORD,
CHARLES P. KIRKLAND,
MARSHALL S. BIDWELL,
CHAS. O'CONOR,
WM. CURTIS NOYES.

In the early part of his professional career, Judge BRONSON was the cotemporary and compeer at the Bar of Oneida of HENRY R. STORRS, SAMUEL A. TALCOTT, WILLIAM H. MAYNARD, SAMUEL BEARDSLEY and JOSHUA A. SPENCER. He was the fitting associate of those distinguished men.

In 1829 he was appointed Attorney-General of the State, (having succeeded the gifted TALCOTT,) the duties of which office he fulfilled with marked ability until 1836, when he was promoted to the Bench of the Supreme Court. He continued in that tribunal (and during part of the period as Chief-Justice) until 1847, when, under the provisions of the present Constitution, the Court ceased to exist. He was that year elected Judge of the Court of Appeals at the first judicial election under that Constitution; this office he resigned in 1851.

He was thus for 15 years a member of our highest judicial tribunals, the Supreme Court, the Court for the Correction of Errors, and the Court of Appeals. His judicial opinions are remarkable for great vigor and originality, a stern sense of right and justice, and in many instances for elaborate research: they are a valuable and an enduring contribution to American jurisprudence.

On his retirement from the Court of Appeals, he removed to the City of New-York, and resumed practice at the Bar, where he fully maintained his high reputation. He closed his professional labors on the 1st of January last, when his term of office, as Counsel to the Corporation of New-York, expired.

In all domestic and social relations his life presents a bright example for imitation.

In him is beautifully illustrated the beneficence of our institutions, under the protection and influence of which, without the aid of wealth or family connections or advantages even of such education as is furnished by our academies and colleges, he was enabled, by manly self-reliance and resolute energy, to attain and successfully and eminently to fill the highest positions, and thus to realize the aspirations of an elevated and noble ambition.

For several months immediately preceding his death, he endured much physical pain, but throughout his sufferings and in his last hours, he was sustained by the consolations and the hopes of that Christian faith, of which he had for many years been a consistent professor. He has departed full of honors as of years, and long will he be held in grateful remembrance and respect by the Bench and the Bar of New-York.

SUTHERLAND, P. J., said: The Clerk will enter on the minutes of the Court this tribute of respect in behalf of the Bar of the City of New-York to the memory of Judge BRONSON.

It is appropriate and just.

GREENE C. BRONSON was a great man, because he was an honest man, and because he discharged the duties of the high offices of dignity, honor and responsibility referred to in the paper handed up, not only with distinguished ability, but usefully and honestly.

How can we pronounce a higher eulogy than by saying that GREENE C. BRONSON was an honest man, an honest lawyer, an honest Judge?

No man ever discharged the duties of a Judge with sterner integrity.

There never was a Judge, who, in construing statutes and written Constitutions of Government and administering the law, was less influenced by arguments and considerations addressed to judicial discretion, or by considerations even of public policy not declared by any law. His prompt answer to all such arguments and considerations was "ita lex scripta."

As a Judge, he appeared always to have kept in mind what Lord CAMDEN said, in a dissenting judicial opinion, unsurpassed for judicial eloquence, that "the discretion of a Judge is the law of tyrants; it is always unknown; it is different in different men; it is casual, and depends upon constitution, temper and passion." His reported judicial opinions and decisions show that he thought it better to have a bad law inflexible "than permit it to be bent by the discretion of the Judge."

His reported judicial opinions on constitutional questions show that he believed that all political liberty in this country depended upon an exact and honest observance of our written Constitutions of Government.

If these constitutions were entirely blotted out of existence to-morrow, as long as our law-books remain, they will testify to GREENE C. BRONSON's able and honest and faithful efforts to preserve their integrity and to give force and effect, and perpetuity to them, so that they might fulfill the great purposes for which they were adopted and intended.

No higher compliment can be paid to his memory.

Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors met, pursuant to law, at 11 A. M. yesterday, to proceed to appoint Inspectors of Registry. Balloting was gone through with for one Election District, in order to fulfill the letter of the law, without, of course, resulting in a choice, and then the matter was postponed till the Committee on Nominations are ready to report. The Committee on Annual Taxes reported the Tax Levy, but as there was barely a quorum present the levy was not made, and the report was laid over and ordered to be printed, so that all the members could have time to read and ponder upon it before voting.

Its figures condensed, are as follows: Total amount required to be raised by tax for all purposes, $11,851,226 41. Of this sum $2,540,557 15 are for State purposes, $2,746,465 29 for the county, $6,037,095 74 for the City, and for deficiencies $530,108 23.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Comptroller to furnish an estimate, by Nov. 1, of the probable income to the County in 1864, and of the sums that likely will be necessary to be appropriated for County and State purposes for next year. The Board are thus looking forward to next year's tax levy before making this year's. They adjourned to 3 o'clock P. M. on next Wednesday.

County Substitute and Relief Committee.

This Committee sent out sixty-eight substitutes yesterday, of whom six were rejected. A careful inspection of the well-designed and well-kept record books of the Committee shows that up to last Saturday night they had passed upon 707 cases, and furnished 658 substitutes. Of the total number 58 were policemen, and all furnished substitutes; 194 were militiamen, of whom 183 furnished substitutes; 123 were firemen, and all furnished substitutes; 332 were indigent persons, of whom 294 furnished substitutes. Eleven militiamen and 36 indigent persons had their commutation paid for them by the Committee, and two conscripts entered the army, and gave their families the benefit of the bounty of $300. During the whole of last week no conscript's case was passed without a substitute. Those whose commutation was paid were applicants at the commencement of the Committee's session, when they had not got fairly down to work, and earnestly exacted a substitute for every applicant. The Committee have received a letter from Cincinnati, and from some individual who is in the substitute business, offering to furnish 75 substitutes, at $300 a-piece, and asking if they will take them. They have answered that they will give $300 to each substitute sworn in, and will accept any number at that price, paying the money to an agent only at the direction of the substitute.

Compliments to the Officers of the Russian Frigate.

Since the Russian frigate Osliaba has been in our harbor, her officers have been the recipients of many kind attentions from our citizens, and the City Government has very properly resolved to testify in a more formal and official manner the friendly feeling of our people toward them and the Government which they represent. The Common Council have unanimously passed resolutions extending the hospitalities of the City to Capt. BOUKATOFF and his associates, and a reception will be given them at the Governor's Room in a few days, which will be followed by a complimentary banquet at the Metropolitan Hotel. At the reception the welcome speech will be delivered by His Honor Mayor OPDYKE. The resolutions of the Common Council have been beautifully engrossed and framed, and will be presented to Capt. BOUKATOFF by the Committee selected for that purpose, on board the frigate in the Bay. The officers of the Osliaba express themselves highly pleased with their visit here, and grateful for the many civilities extended to them on all sides.

A Burglar Killed in Prince-street.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday morning, a colored man, named STEPHEN SCHOFIELD, entered the premises No. 50 Prince-street, occupied by Mr. DIXIES. The latter made an attack upon the burglar with a large carving knife, with which he stabbed him several times through the body, killing him almost instantly. SCHOFIELD at the time was in the act of carrying away a quantity of jewelry and clothing. Coroner WILDEY held an inquest on the body yesterday, and the jury rendered a verdict "that the deceased came to his death by hemorrhage from stab wounds, at the hands of AUGUSTUS DIXIES, Sept. 21, while the said deceased was in the act of committing a felony. And we regard the said DIXIES as justified in the act." The deceased was about 35 years of age, and has left a family residing in Greene-street.

A Remarkable Escape from the Tombs.

Considerable excitement was created at the Tombs yesterday morning by the discovery that CONRAD SCHMIDT, a prisoner, had effected his escape from cell No. 50, where he was confined. A thorough search was at once instituted, but he was nowhere to be found. His escape was made in a very adroit and remarkable manner, with the aid of accomplices, as follows: On the second corridor, where he was confined, awaiting his trial on a charge of burglary, for breaking into and robbing the boot and shoe store No. 357 Houston-street, on the night of the 29th ult., there were also confined JOHN SHEERY, charged with rape, and FREDERICK MUNTER, under an indictment for murder, in cutting the throat of a widow lady on the 7th of August, because she declined to marry him. An examination of the cell by Mr. SUTTON, the Warden, and the deputy keepers, was made, when it appeared that SCHMIDT had placed his bed beneath the cell window, and upon this he stood while forcing off the window casings. In this manner he was able to make an opening 29 inches long by about 6¾ inches in width. This he must have found too small for his body, from the fact that he greased and soaped the window-casing in order to enable him to slip through the aperture. In this way he succeeded in getting outside, where he was compelled to drop himself down, a distance of about twelve feet, to the roof of the new cook-house. At this point he left behind him a rope, an iron hook and a basket. Thence he climbed up a tin leader, some eighteen feet, to a roof, beneath which prisoners are confined for short terms. This brought him to the Elm-street side of the Tombs, and, waiting a favorable opportunity, let himself down to the ground by means of a cord. Then he scaled a high iron railing, and was in the street, and free to roam wherever he chose. He made good his escape, and the only evidence as to the manner in which he effected it is gleaned from the traces he has left. This is the first prisoner who has escaped from the Tombs since Mr. SUTTON began his term as Warden, a period of five years. The latter is quite confident that SCHMIDT had accomplices to aid him.

Court of General Sessions.

BEFORE JUDGE M'CUNN.

At the opening of the Court yesterday morning MARY ANN BROWN was placed on trial, charged with robbing a soldier of the Second Massachusetts regiment, named JAMES KING, out of $50 at a disreputable house in Water-street. The evidence of identification was very imperfect, and the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

CHAS. WILSON pleaded guilty to grand larceny, in picking the pocket of STEPHEN B. CONOVER of a pocketbook containing $81 25, and was sentenced to the State Prison for two years.

FREDERICK SNYDER pleaded guilty to an attempt to commit grand larceny and was remanded for sentence.

CHAS. MEADOWS pleaded guilty to petit larceny, and was remanded for sentence.

JOSEPH R. LOWENSTEIN was placed on trial, charged with receiving stolen goods. A servant girl in the house of Mr. EARLE, (proprietor of Earle's Hotel,) stole a large quantity of silver ware, and on being arrested confessed the crime, and said she sold the plunder to the prisoner, and a portion of the silver was subsequently found in his possession. After a partial examination of Mr. EARLE, the Court adjourned to 11 o'clock this morning. Messrs. E. BLANKMAN and LEVI CHATFIELD appear for the prisoner, and O. L. SEWARD, Esq., for the people.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

AN EXTENSIVE BURGLARY ATTEMPTED IN PARK-PLACE.—At a late hour on Sunday night, Officer FAYLES, of the Third Precinct, while patrolling his beat, discovered the fastening of the grating to the cellar of No. 25 Park-place, occupied by Messrs. LATHROP, LUDDINGTON & Co., dry goods merchants, open. Suspecting that burglars were at work therein, he called to his assistance some of the other patrolmen, and a thorough search of the premises was made. They found evidences of a very extensive burglary, and it is the belief of the officers that the burglars began their operations on Saturday night. It is supposed that they concealed themselves in the cellar, and when the store was clear of clerks on Sunday, went to work and tied up in two large bundles about $20,000 worth of silks and velvets. The thieves were disturbed in their operations on Sunday night, and while the Police were making a search in the premises down stairs, they picked the lock of the front door, and fled, with about $1,000 worth of goods, consisting mainly of silk handkerchiefs and necktiles. The firm have offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the guilty persons, and $500 for the recovery of the property which was stolen.

ARRIVAL OF THE U. S. STEAMER RHODE ISLAND.—The U. S. gunboat Rhode Island, Commander NORTON, arrived yesterday from St. George's, Bermuda, and 29 hours from Fortress Monroe. Following is a list of her officers: Lieutenant-Commanding, C. S. NORTON; Captain, James Alden; Surgeon, P. S. Wales; Paymaster, C. Heden; Chief Engineer, R. Smith; Acting Masters, R. P. Swann, W. E. Dennison; Acting Ensigns, H. E. Moffat, G. N. Armstrong; Captain's Clerk, R. Bogart; Paymaster's Clerk, E. S. Hatham; Acting Masters' Mates, Eytinge, Herrick, Moore, Smeet, Mann; Acting Engineers, Herron, Wilson, Wines, Prentiss, Effs, Wakefield; Gunner, Thomas Reese.

DEATHS THE PAST WEEK.—There is a decrease of twenty per cent. in the deaths the last week as compared with the one preceding, but still a large increase over this period a year ago. The deaths the past week were 467, of which over half were children under five years. The principal causes of death were the following: cholera infantum, 51; convulsions, infantile, 25; croup, 12; diarrhœa, 25; diphtheria, 10; dysentery, 14; inflammation of bowels, 12; inflammation of lungs, 22; disease of brain, 11; consumption, 64; dropsy in head, 12; marasmus, infantile, 47. There were two cases of death from small-pox, five of drowning, one of suicide, one of murder, and eight of old age.

MORE RECOGNITION.—The valuable services of the Police force of the Twenty-third Precinct, Capt. HUTCHINGS, during the riot week, have been acknowledged by the citizens of Yorkville, who have presented them with a costly and very elegant flag and flagstaff. It will soon be swung to the breeze, a handsome tribute to their courage and fidelity.

BRIG-GEN. CHARLES K. GRAHAM.—A meeting of the friends of Brig-Gen. GRAHAM was held last evening, for the purpose of making arrangements to properly welcome him on his return to this city, after his long involuntary residence in Dixie. He is expected here to day.

THE POSTAL CURRENCY.—It has been ascertained that of the 50 cent postage currency there are nine different counterfeits, of the 25s and 10s two each, and of the 5s one. Besides this there is much mutilation of this currency, the fragments of which are pasted together.

SANITAY INSPECTION.—During the past week the Bureau of Sanitary Inspection have abated 199 nuisances, removed 138 dead animals and carried off 2,000 barrels offal and seized 6,500 pounds of bad meat, poultry, butter and cheese.

Matter of Michael Cox.—This Government habeas corpus matter was before the Court at General Term on a motion for a hearing of the questions raised therein, and which were sent to the General Term for determination.

SURROGATE'S COURT.

The Estate of Thomas Collyer.—This was an application for an order requiring the administrator of the deceased (the late eminent ship-builder of this port) to give further security. It was claimed that the estate is worth over $300,000, and that the inventory and appraisal fix it at only $150,000.

George B. Collyer, the administrator, replied that he had received only about $145,000, and that the security already given was ample.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Additional particulars respecting the great battle near Chattanooga on Saturday, are given in yesterday's Cincinnati Commercial. Soon after the opening of the battle the fighting became general, and an impetuous dash of the enemy upon the well-known LOOMIS battery resulted in the capture of Capt. VAN PELT, its commanding officer, and five of the six guns which composed it. The musketry firing is described as having been at times terrific and almost deafening in its roar. The action continued until long after dark, both armies fighting stubbornly and losing large numbers of men. We captured ten guns and lost seven. From a special dispatch to the Washington Chronicle, we learn that at Gen. GRANGER'S headquarters, at Nashville, it was believed that the contest closed with no disadvantages to the Union arms. A telegram from Louisville, dated 12¾ A. M., Monday, states that the fight was renewed on Sunday morning, resulting in the defeat of Gen. ROSECRANS' army and its compulsory retreat to Chattanooga, but a later dispatch received by the Washington National Intelligencer, puts a more cheerful complexion upon the matter. This brings the news down to 8 P. M. on Sunday, when the advance of the rebel army is reported to have been driven back. The dispatch states that the battle was resumed on Sunday morning—the rebels attacking with overwhelming numbers—and the action continued furiously all day. The number of killed and wounded on both sides is estimated at thirty thousand.

Gen. W. T. SHERMAN, with the Fifteenth army corps, is still encamped on the Big Black, in the rear of Vicksburgh, and Gen. MCPHERSON'S corps, the Seventeenth, is in and around the City itself. There is no formidable force nearer this small army than that which has recently dealt ROSECRANS such a staggering blow near Chattanooga.

A Washington dispatch states that Capt. MCCLURE, of Gen. BANKS' Staff, had arrived there with dispatches, and reported that the Texas expedition is going forward favorably.

FROM EUROPE.

We have two days' later advices from Europe, and newspaper files to the 8th inst., by the arrival at this port yesterday of the Cunard screw steamer Hecla, from Liverpool and Queenstown. The question of the destination of the rebel rams, building in the Mersey, is still earnestly discussed by the English journals. The Morning Post asserts that these vessels will be detained until a Court of law can determine whether, under the terms of the Foreign Enlistment act, the detention is legal. The Paris Constitutionnel repeats the assertion that the rams are constructed for the Egyptian Government. The report that JEFF. DAVIS intended to arm half a million of negroes was received with distrust in England; but presuming it to be true, some regarded it as a confession of weakness on the part of the rebels, and others treated it as a masterly stroke of policy, checkmating President LINCOLN'S Emancipation scheme. It was again announced that MAXIMILIAN had determined upon the conditional acceptance of the Mexican crown. Engagements between the insurgent Poles and the Russian troops were daily reported. There was considerable excitement in the Liverpool Cotton market, and prices were advancing. Consols closed at 93¼ for money.

GENERAL NEWS.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen, yesterday, a Committee of five were deputed to accompany the remains of Col. M. K BRYAN to Albany. The report of the Advertising Committee, in favor of making the Herald a Corporation paper, with authority to publish the Common Council proceedings and documents in extenso, was taken up, and, after a slight discussion, the word "documents" was struck out. With this change the report was adopted by 12 to 2. The Board adjourned to meet next Thursday, at 1 o'clock P M

In the Board of Councilmen a communication was received from the Street Commissioner, in answer to a resolution of inquiry, stating that the National military must have taken possession of the Parks by order of the National commandant at this post, no permission for the purpose having been given by his Department. On a motion to refer bills by STETSON & Co., of the Astor House, and other bills, for the entertainment of returned volunteer soldiers, there was some enlivening talk. Mr. SANFORD, who has uniformly opposed these bills, explained the grounds of his opposition to be the fact that he had been informed that money was used to get them through the Board, and that in one case $1,500 were paid. Mr. GROSS called for the name of the informant, but it was not given. The bills were referred to the Finance Committee. The Board passed a resolution to have a handsome gold medal prepared and presented to Major-Gen. SICKLES, in token of the appreciation by the City of his patriotism and bravery. Adjourned to 4 o'clock P. M., on Thursday.

The Detroit Free Press states that the health of Gen. CASS had improved, and he was considered out of danger. Gen. CASS is now 81 years old, having been born in 1782. In that year were also born JOHN C. CALHOUN, THOMAS H. BENTON, DANIEL WEBSTER and MARTIN VAN BUREN—all dead.

The new gunboat Ozark had a trial trip on Sept. 18. The naval inspectors pronounced the performance satisfactory. She is armed with two 11-inch guns in a revolving turret.

The price of gold advanced 5 ₩ cent. yesterday on the army news from Gen. ROSECRANS. Exchange on London closed 154@154½ on Gold at 139½@140 ₩ cent. At the Stock Exchange the speculation in the Railways was active at advancing prices. The Government Securities were comparatively steady. Money easy to the Brokers at 6@7 ₩ cent.

Breadstuffs, Cotton and Provisions were quite active, and much dearer yesterday. Groceries were in demand. Sugars favored sellers. A lively business was reported in Hay, Tallow, Tobacco and Whiskey. Oils and Metals were doing better. The freight engagements were moderate. The changes in other branches of trade were unimportant.

The cattle market at Forty-fourth-street was supplied with 4,300 beeves yesterday, and a few droves were still behind. Quality generally poor. One or two lots of very fine Kentucky Durhams brought high prices—11c.@11½c. ₩ lb. for the meat, but the bulk of the stock was sold at 8c.@10c., the poorer grades going off slowly. Prices are generally a shade lower than last week, more on account of quality than a decline in the market. The weather was everything that could be desired for a brisk meat trade.

The Battle in Georgia.

As was anticipated by Gen. ROSECRANS, the great battle which opened on Saturday forenoon, and raged till after nightfall, was reopened on Sunday morning, and continued throughout the day. The aspect of the battle of Sunday is no better than was that of Saturday. On Saturday, the rebels first massed their troops on our right, then on our centre, then on our left, attacking each in succession, and gaining important advantages, and though at evening our army occupied the same ground as when the action commenced, it would appear that Gen. ROSECRANS suffered severely. On Sunday the enemy again advanced in force; but the only details of the battle given are, that it raged fiercely all day—that two of ROSECRANS' divisions gave way in panic, but were subsequently rallied, while the remainder of the army stood its ground, and it is reported that at night we were driving back the rebel advance. The casualties were very heavy—the dispatch asserting that the killed and wounded on both sides will not fall short of thirty thousand.

There is little cheer on the surface of the dispatch, or in the details as given, but we think there is ground for encouragement. The fact that ROSECRANS held his ground for two days is a very favorable sign. In their desperate and overwhelming assaults of Saturday and Sunday, the rebels failed to drive him back, or at least failed to keep him back. On Saturday ROSECRANS was unable to bring his artillery favorably into action, and this was probably also the case on Sunday, as the ground of the battle was the same on both days. If he has subsequently succeeded in getting it into good position, we do not fear for the result.

It is within range of possibility that BURNSIDE was able to form a junction with him on Monday. In that event, also, the result would be hopeful; as ROSECRANS alone held the rebel army at bay for two days.

It is evident that ROSECRANS is greatly outnumbered. Surely it would have been infinitely better to have had the twenty thousand men of Gen. STEELE, who are operating away up the Arkansas River, coöperating with Gen. ROSECRANS at this critical moment.

The Anglo-Rebel Rams.

The most important feature in our European news this morning is the semi-official announcement put forth by the London Morning Post that the two rams—"powerful iron-plated steam rams," as Earl RUSSELL described them—which are lying in the Mersey, all but ready to start out in Confederate service, are to be detained by the British Government, under the terms of the Foreign Enlistment act. Their case will be brought before a Court of Law, which will be called upon to determine whether the detention is legal, or whether the owners can recover them from the hands of the Government. The allegation against them is that they are fitted out for the purpose of carrying on hostilities against this country; but, on the other hand, it is contended that they were built by order of a French house for the late Pasha of Egypt, whose successor has repudiated the contract. "Pasha of Egypt" is really, however, but the latest alias of Mr. JEFF. DAVIS, who, having become too well known to the police by his alias, "Emperor of China," has taken a new name under which to perpetrate his crimes. There is no doubt whatever that these rams were intended for the rebels. The English journals themselves give abundant proof of this, and all the quibbles that Pasha DAVIS' tools, the Messrs. LAIRD, have raised for the purpose evading the law, as well as all the quibbles that Earl RUSSELL has raised about the construction of the law, have only served to establish more clearly the main facts in question. We have great hope, therefore, that if the rams are detained, and their case brought before a British court of law, that the decision will be such as not only to agree with the provisions of the Foreign Enlistment act, but with national comity and international justice. We have the more ground for this hope in the new spirit of fairness with which this case is treated by nearly all types of the British Press. The Daily News, the Star, the Spectator and other friendly organs, are energetic in their remonstrances, decided and bold in their tone, and persistent and powerful in their arguments; the Morning Post and so-called neutral journals give a remarkably fair statement of the case; even the Times and Saturday Review, which heretofore have been ready to apologise for any breach of English or international law, if done in the interest of the Confederates, which have been anxious to damage the Union cause by fair blows or by foul, have come out vigorously against the present evasion of the law attempted by the rebel agents and the Messrs. LAIRD. The Times desires that the law on the subject, whatever it may be, should be enforced, and if the present law is not sufficient to secure the ends aimed at, "it concerns us (the English) more nearly than any other nation to get the laws thoroughly revised." It further makes this remark, which, if it be accurate, we consider one of the best signs of the day in England: "As things now stand, there seems to be a kind of moral obligation making itself felt in advance of the law." There is no doubt that, when once public sentiment in England attains a just standard and an unbiased expression on the questions at issue between our Government and theirs, we shall have an easy solution for all difficulties that may arise, and the best security for the maintenance of peaceful relations between the two countries.

We hope the news we now get concerning the rams is authentic. This has been really the most immediately threatening question in our foreign relations. For it has been clear to every one on this side, as it is now becoming clear to the people of England, that the letting loose of these Anglo-rebel vessels upon our commerce or our coast, would have been justly construed as a practical declaration of war against us.

Trouble in Missouri.

Gen. SCHOFIELD has just published a most stringent order in his Department, and it is to be hoped that he will have the nerve to execute it, and that the Administration will have the courage to suffer him to do so. The condition of Missouri is at present, and for months past has been, a disgrace to the American Government. It was the State the least struck, of all the Slaveholding States, with the madness of treason. It was the most quickly and easily rescued from the perils of rebellion. It was the most fully prepared for the abrogation of Slavery, and has been the first to abolish it, and thus remove forever the exciting cause of the existing war.

But, notwithstanding these facts, Missouri is to-day more dangerously disturbed, if not more dangerously disloyal, than Mississippi. More contempt for the army and the Government is daily poured forth there—more turbulence in talk and in action is indulged in—and human life is less safe than anywhere else within all the military lines of the United States. In this latter respect, the condition of Missouri is fearful. Not a day passes that does not chronicle house-burnings and murders. The border between Missouri and Kansas is a scene of general terror and flight, resulting from threats of mutual slaughter by opposing parties, which threats are in process of execution. Two days since the North Missouri Railroad trains were fired into and driven back from their trip, and yesterday we were treated to the report of new plots to burn the City of St. Louis!

We do not exaggerate the facts in this matter, and we are sorry to have to say that the existing evils in Missouri appear, in the main part, to spring from the ungovernable passions and the insubordinate machinations of a party in that State, that have heretofore professed to be loyal to the Government of the United States. But their misfortune is, that they think themselves more loyal than the laws of Congress, more loyal than the Union officers and soldiers in the State, more loyal than the President himself and his advisers! There is a radical party in Missouri that is preaching as much contempt for National authority, and encouraging as much hatred and opposition to the officers of the Administration, as ever did the rebels themselves; and they do not scruple to advise volunteer and lawless organizations to defeat the regular work of the Administration.

This faction has been heard of in Missouri before. Not long ago it called a convention and gravely resolved that the President should dismiss Gen. HALLECK from his place as General-in-Chief, and turn Mr. SEWARD out of his Cabinet. A committee was sent to Washington to communicate their august pleasure to the President. Mr. LINCOLN'S reply to their Chairman, TAUSSIG, will be remembered.

It suited the President not long since to appoint a new commander to the Department of Missouri. The faction became more enraged at this act of the President than they were at his retention of HALLECK and SEWARD. Within a week after Gen. SCHOFIELD entered upon his duties, they commenced a bitter and unscrupulous warfare upon him, which has been continued to this day. Every effort that ingenuity could devise to bring contempt upon that officer personally, or to discredit his authority, or embarrass his administration, has been resorted to. The outbreaks of the guerrillas, in whatever part of the State, have been hailed with delight and exulted over as furnishing the opportunity of deriding Gen. SCHOFIELD and demanding his removal. It is clear that in their animosity to the man they have sunk all patriotism—as they had long since sunk all respect for the President and his Administration.

Gen. SCHOFIELD sees that unless he can stop the incendiary conduct of these people, the State of Missouri must relapse into a condition of anarchy and bloodshed. The order he has issued goes to the root of the evil. He declares that military law will hereafter be rigidly enforced against all persons in his Department "who shall in any manner encourage mutiny and insubordination, or endeavor to create disaffection among the troops, and against all persons who shall publish or utter publicly words calculated to excite insurrection or lawless acts among the people, or who shall publish falsehoods or misrepresentations of facts calculated to embarrass or weaken the military authority, or in any manner interfere with them in the discharge o their duties."

The President has doubtless authorized this measure. He owes it to the dignity of his office, to the respect due to his officers and army, to the peace of Missouri and the credit of the country, to put an end to the insolence of faction in the West.

PROGRESS OF UNIONISM IN TENNESSEE.—The recent news we have given of the improved public feeling in Tennessee, and the readiness of the people of that State to return to the Union, is receiving confirmation in the Western journals. A Cincinnati paper received yesterday contains notices of public meetings that have been held in the Counties of Bedford and Hardeman, in both of which resolutions of the most decided Union character were passed. Gov. JOHNSON was requested to order an election for State officers and members of the Legislature, and pledges were given that none but friends of the Union would be supported for office. Hardeman County was always Democratic in politics by nearly 1,000 majority, and went unanimously for secession. It has not had a Union soldier in it for months. Bedford County was generally Democratic, and went heavily for secession. Better exponents of Tennessee feeling than these two counties could not be chosen.

Delays in the Prize Courts.

The English have complained a good deal, from first to last, about the action of our Prize Courts. They have not been suited with the law by which our Courts have been governed, even though we showed them the best English authority for it. It is not unnatural, perhaps, for they looked at their own legal principles from a point of view to which they were not accustomed, and their aspect was entirely changed. The views which English Courts took of the cases of prizes captured by English vessels, seemed to be very different when it concerns English prizes and American Courts and captors. Nor have their complaints been confined to the general rules of law. The action of the Courts in different cases has been the subject of sharp animadversion. They have intimated pretty broadly that our Courts would not give them a fair hearing—interposed delays of all kinds to their just claims—imposed too heavy expenses upon them, and in various ways were guilty of practices which were very offensive to the sensibilities of the British Lion. The allegations of undue delay have been quite prominent. It is but a little while since we saw an article in the London Shipping Gazette, complaining, among other things, that in the case of the Labuan and the Empress, although the vessels had been restored, "no compensation has as yet been awarded to the claimants for the loss of time, damage, or other injuries incurred in the protection of their property." But it appeared by our law reports a few days ago that the reason why nothing has been done in the matter of the Labuan, at least, is that the claimants of the vessel have failed to move the proceedings before the Court, understanding, as they said, although mistakenly, that the matter was already before the Court for decision,—so that the delay has been the consequence of their own blundering. We are confident that the same rule will hold good in other cases of delay.

But we are satisfied that this matter of delay has been made of much more importance than it ought to have been. The cases before the Courts have met with their proportion of "the laws' delay" and no more—no more delay than has been usual in the English Prize Courts. For instance, out of fifty-one cases reported in the first three volumes of Robinson's Reports, in which the date of the capture is given, the time which had elapsed from the date of the capture to the date of the decision is as follows:

It was less than 6 months in	18 cases.
Between 6 months and a year in	9 cases.
Between 1 and 2 years in	2 cases.
Between 2 and 3 years in	7 cases.
Between 3 and 4 years in	8 cases.
Between 4 and 5 years in	3 cases.
Between 5 and 6 years in	3 cases.
Between 16 and 17 years in	1 case.

And these, it is to be borne in mind, are decisions, not on appeal, but on the hearing in the Prize Court. But it is not yet three years since the rebellion broke out; and during that time not only have all the earlier cases been brought to a hearing in our Courts, but many of them have been carried through two appellate Courts, and finally disposed of.

We are satisfied that our Prize Courts will bear no unfavorable comparison with those of England as to this matter of delay. It behooves our English censors, before they bring accusation against our Courts, to scan the proceedings of their own Courts, for in criticising us they condemn themselves.

The Czar's Magna Charta.

La France has intelligence from Moscow, which, if authentic, will entitle the Czar to hold the first rank among the reformers and patriots of the present century. It is to the effect that the Emperor ALEXANDER has resolved not only to give a Constitution to Poland, but even to convert the whole of his vast empire into a constitutional State. Nor have we merely vague assertion in support of the rumor. The very outlines of the scheme have been likewise communicated. The contemplated polity is to be a species of federalism, of which our own is evidently the model. Every province is to have a Diet for the management of its municipal affairs, while a Pan-Slavonic Diet, consisting of a Senate of three hundred members, and a Lower Chamber of four hundred and fifty, is to represent and rule over the monarchy at large.

The Czar has been importuned to give liberty to Poland, but why should he deny to his loyal and devoted Russians what he is on the point of granting to their insurgent and disaffected fellow-subjects? Therefore he has decided to complete the philanthropic work, which he has commenced in his Muscovite dominions, by raising the millions whom he emancipated to the status at once of freemen and citizens. The conception of this colossal project is not less creditable to his head than his heart. If the great and complex scheme can be carried out, it will contribute equally to the strength and the happiness of Russia. Consolidated and reinvigorated thereby, the Empire of the Czar will acquire a power, from a contest with which the nations of the West will shrink in dismay, and the Muscovite will in time become as formidable to the old States of Europe as Macedon became in the days of PHILIP and ALEXANDER to the degenerate republics of Greece.

The feasibility of the project, so far as Russia is concerned, can admit of no doubt. In every section of the Russian dominions the people will accept the boon with joy and gratitude. But, with regard to Poland, the case is more questionable—nay, it may safely be asserted, that to the Poles the new Constitution will not prove acceptable. The Poles clamor for nationality. They demand a political existence altogether distinct from that of Russia. Now, though the Czar's Constitution will give them a local Diet and the control of their municipal affairs, yet as it proposes to unite them legislatively to Russia, and to absorb Poland into the Empire, the insurgents are sure to contemn the proffered gift. What the Poles think of the matter is, however, of less practical consequence than what the coalitionists think of it, and, luckily for ALEXANDER, they cannot condemn the project without pronouncing sentence of condemnation on one of themselves. The allies have never, be it remembered, claimed the position of a sovereign State for Poland. They have merely required that the country should be governed constitutionally under the sceptre of the Czar. Well, the Czar, out of respect, to this requisition, and out of regard to justice, grants to Poland a constitution; but as he has resolved, like the Kaiser, to consolidate his empire, and to establish a Russian Reichsrath, in which all his provinces shall be represented, he insists on the Poles becoming parties to his arrangement, and sending deputies to the Imperial Legislature, as well as his other subjects. Now, how can the interventionists fairly object to the Czar's proposition? The Austrian Poles are said to be perfectly content—are thought to have no real grievance to grumble about; yet they are in precisely the same position as that in which the Czar proposes to place the people of Russian-Poland. The Austrian Poles have their Provincial Diet, and are also represented in the General Diet at Vienna; but if they are satisfied with their lot, why should not their Russian brethren, if similarly circumstanced, be satisfied likewise? It is, therefore, hardly probable that the Allies will have the temerity to pronounce ALEXANDER'S concessions insufficient, and such as the Poles ought not to accept. The intervening Powers profess to dread disastrous results to European interests from this Polish insurrection. For consistency's sake, then, they will hardly venture to take a course which would tend to prolong it. They have gained little credit by meddling in this Slavonic imbroglio, and they are not likely to lose so favorable an opportunity for escaping from it without incurring actual disgrace. But if the Allies pronounce the Russian concessions sufficiently liberal, and counsel submission on the part of the insurgents, what alternative will the latter have, save to follow the advice of their friends, or to persist in their rebellion with the certainty of having ere long to throw themselves on the mercy of the Czar, and embrace such terms as he may be disposed to grant?

According to the Courier de Dimanche, the interventionists, in their "identical notes," proclaim Russia "responsible for the calamitous consequences which the prolongation of discord in Poland may bring about." Should those interventionists, however, instead of taking the course above pointed out, offer a factious opposition to the efforts of ALEXANDER to compromise with his subjects, on themselves and not on Russia will rest the responsibility for said consequences.

AMERICAN TRADE AND CREDIT.—It is worthy of note, because not generally suspected, that the imports of foreign merchandise into the port of New-York, thus far this year, or up to Saturday last, are almost precisely the same as for the corresponding period of the year 1862. The comparative statement is thus:

Imports from Jan. 1 to Sept. 19, 1863	$132,644,028
Same time, 1862	132,475,349
Increased importation	$168,679

It has been believed that the imports for this year greatly exceeded those of last year.

On the other hand, it is found that the exports of domestic produce, including foreign articles reexported, for the past time of the present year, greatly exceed those of the corresponding time of the year 1862. The comparative statement is as follows:

Exports from Jan. 1 to Sept. 16, 1863	$127,072,524
Same time, 1862	100,598,980
Increased export	$26,473,524

The Specie feature of our foreign trade is very satisfactory, comparing this year with last. The exports, from this port, for the two years, compare as follows:

Exports from Jan. 1 to Sept. 19, 1862	$42,874,000
Same time, 1863	31,002,000
Decreased specie export	$11,872,000

The complaints of croakers who see nothing but extravagance, unsoundness and overtrading, in the commercial operations of the United States, find no support in these Custom-house figures. No great nation in the midst of the stimulus, excitements and disturbances of war ever exhibited such steady trade regulations, and kept on in a line of such even and unbroken prosperity. It is because of these facts that the credit of the Government has been and continues to be the marvel of the world.

AMUSEMENTS.

WINTER GARDEN.—The returning engagements of Mr. EDWIN BOOTH have become so acceptable a feature of the Winter season, that it is fair to say they are looked forward to by the most intellectual part of the community with the greatest possible anticipations of delight. The gentleman belongs to a class that, so far as this City is concerned, begins and ends with himself. Treading on the heels of tradition in almost every part that he plays, he yet contrives, by a delicate and peculiar vein of thought, to infuse his own individuality into all that he impersonates. He is one of the freshest actors now before the public, and this, combined with rare mental carefulness for study, imparts to all his rôles, well-known as they are, an ever-recurring degree of interest. Mr. BOOTH opened last evening in his favorite rôle of Hamlet—the one in which he always makes his rentrée before the public. He was received by a splendid audience, and with a degree of enthusiasm that testifies unmistakably to the favor in which he is held by his friends. The performance was a very fine one in all respects, and inaugurated Mr. JACKSON'S Winter campaign with the greatest possible éclat. Of Mr. BOOTH'S performance of the metaphysical Dane we have but little to add to what we have already, and so often said. It is a thoroughly fine impersonation—bold and picturesque in its physical outlines, as the youth and personal presence of Mr. BOOTH justify; and intellectually well defined, yet coquettish in its rapid and delicate transition from one mood to another. The part, indeed, peculiarly fits Mr. BOOTH, and is certainly one of his best. It was received with the greatest favor by an audience that watched every word and motion with the keenest scrutiny and delight. The young tragedian's reception was indeed perfect. Mr. BARRETT was excellent also as the Ghost, and the Orphelia of Miss CLIFTON was a graceful and poetic realization of that touching rôle.

Theatricals in Brooklyn.

LAURA KEENE IN BROOKLYN.—The Academy was absolutely packed, last night, by a vast audience gathered to witness Miss LAURA KEENE'S famous personation of Peg Woffington. To-morrow night she gives a burlesque, written for her by Mr. FRANK WOOD, which will out-ghost all other ghosts ever known or dreamed of.

THE PARK THEATRE.—Mr. HARRISON produced at the Park Theatre, last night, the comedy of "Faint Heart never won fair Lady," and the musical burletta of "Beauty and the Beast." The house was crowded, the pieces admirably mounted and the people in the best of moods. The extravaganza was received literally with shouts of laughter, and well deserved the applause given from the auditory. The bill will be repeated to-night.

THE SCHUETZENFEST.

Last Day.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

The weather yesterday was all that the most ardent lover of rural pleasure and field sports could wish—clear, sunny, and yet not sultry—the glow of departing Summer tempered by the cool breath of advancing Autumn.

Consequently, the Swiss Shooting Club was in good luck with its beautiful festival, for from the earliest morn crowds began to flock toward the scene of festivity, on foot and by the cars, until at noon a concourse, with bright faces and in gay attire, were on the ground. The shooting at the 8 minor targets commenced as usual at 7 A. M., the main targets "Switzerland" and "Liberty" being on the prize list, and remaining in dignified quiescence.

Meanwhile the throng betook themselves to all the pleasures of the place, swinging, romping, rowing on the river, rustic sports and the solace of the inner man; friend SOMMERS, the "genius of the place," providing every species of creature comfort—in the solids from kuchen to kalbsbraten, and in the liquids from kirschenwasser to Curaçao.

Between 4 and 5 the grand Concert of the Arion Singing Club was announced, and came off on the grand platform, under the wavy trees, the green wood echoing far away with their pleasant melodies. Assisted by HIRSCHMANN'S fine band, they rendered, in their best style, the following programme:

1. Overture—Nebuccanezer—Orchestra..... Verdi.
2. Rheinweinlied—Arion.....R. Franz. (Rhine Wine Song.)
3. Pot Pourí—Charivari..... Zollner.
4. Gruss an das Vaterland—Arion and Orchestra....(Greeting to Fatherland.)....Lachner.
5. March—Tannhauser..... Wagner.
6. Fruehlingslied—Arion.....Abt (Soring Chorus.)
7. Aochzeitsmarsch aus dem Sommernachts Traum.....Mendelssohn. (Wedding March from the Summer Night's Dream.)

The towering form and jolly face of Mr. GOETZ, of the "Arion," (not GOETZ VON BERLICHINGEN) aided with his rich voice in giving due effect to the swelling chorus.

The concert was a delightful success, and seemed to inspire the multitude, which was now immense with a fresh spirit of enjoyment. The distribution of prizes was next in the order of interest. The chief prizes, consisting of a great variety of handsome articles were on exhibition, as they had been since the first day, in an ornamental temple adjacent to the main shooting hall, and about dusk Mr. KUEBELY, the Secretary of the Schuetzenbob, announced the list as follows: For the main target, "Switzerland," all money prizes:

1. Mr. Rudolph Faas, of Providence, R. I., $100.
2. Mr. Knepfer, of New-York, $80.
3. Mr. Raabe, of Hoboken, $70.
4. F. Friedner, of New-York, $60.
5. M. Baumgaertner, of New-York, $50.
6. Chas. Mont, of New-York, $40.
7. Fr. Parin, of New-York, $35.
8. John Becker, of New-York, $30.
9. Hermann Krail, of New-York, $25.
10. Thos. Ducke, of New-York, $25.

From this down the prizes descended in number to 41, and $5 in amount, several falling to marksmen from Newark, N. J., and one to Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; West Hoboken, also, bore away two or three; but, as will be remarked, "little Rhody" headed the list.

For the second great target, "Liberty," the five leading prizes were distributed as follows:

1. Mr. FREDERICK BAUMGAERTNER, of New-York—a beautiful silver service, presented by the Arion Club.
2. Mr. PH. KLEIN, of New-York—one dozen of massive silver forks, presented by the Schuetzen corps of Honesdale, Penn.
3. Mr. J. APPERT, of New-York—a superb embroidered cushion, worked by Mrs. FRANISKA KLEIN.
4. Mr. CH. SCHMIDT—a handsome hunting rifle.
5. Mr. A. SCHLETTE—a musical box, worth $30.

A great variety of other articles, embracing richly-bound editions of GOETHE, SCHILLER, HUMBOLDT'S Kosmos, etc., were also given out, and general satisfaction seemed to crown the efforts of the Committee on Prizes. This ceremony was inaugurated and accompanied by stirring speeches from Mr. HUNGERBUEHLER, the President of the Society; Mr. KUEBELY, its Secretary, and several other eloquent gentlemen, and with a dashing ball, on both platforms, assisted by the music of two fine bands, this great Schuetzenfest—the first ever held in America on so complete a scale—terminated at a late hour in a blaze of success that, in some measure, compensated for the drawbacks of the preceding week. A handsome entertainment, with mirthful flow of wit and sentiment, eloquence and song, wound up the proceedings, which were alike well devised, charitable and patriotic. The appearance of many beautiful ladies in the costumes of the different cantons of the Swiss Bund, and several military gentlemen in full uniform, were not among the least attractions of the closing day.

Honors to the Late Col. M. K. Bryan.

The honors contemplated in this City to the late Col. M. K. BRYAN, of Albany, under the auspices of the Committee on National Affairs, were paid yesterday. The Governor's Room, where the body laid in state, was visited by throngs of citizens until 2 o'clock P. M., when, under escort of the Sixty-ninth regiment, the remains were taken to the Albany boat at the foot of Cortlandt-street, where they were formally delivered to Messrs. JAS. I. JOHNSON and L. W. RODGERS, a Committee on behalf of the citizens of Albany.

The procession moved from the Park to Broadway, Park-row, Chatham-street, Bowery to Bond, Broadway, Cortlandt-street, and thence to the boat. A body of Police in advance, the band, the Sixth-ninth in reversed order, hearse with four white horses, Company C, Sixty-ninth regiment, as guard of honor, and pall-bearers; the following officers and ex-officers of the Twenty-fifth regiment of Albany, of which deceased was some years since Colonel, following in carriages: Col. Harcourt, Col. Swift, Lieut.-Col. Bentley, Lieut.-Col. Friedlander, Maj. McDonald, Capt. Mulholland, Capt. Woods, Lieut. Dunn, Lieut. Rider, Quartermaster Jas. Dunn and Lieut. Grady.

A detail of the One Hundred and Seventy-fifth regiment, of which deceased was Colonel, a company of the Sixty-ninth, and a Committee from the Board of Aldermen, Messrs. Farley, Masterson, McCool, Hardy and Ottiwell, with a number of personal friends of the deceased, accompanied the remains to Albany, where the funeral will take place on Wednesday.

The friends of Col. BRYAN, in this City, acknowledge their obligations to Alderman FARLEY and the Committee, of which he is chairman, for the honors they have been instrumental in paying, as they do to WILLIAM CARROLL, who had charge of the remains, for the handsome manner in which he fulfilled his trust, and to GEORGE ROOME, Keeper of the City Hall, for his most obliging and successful attention to all the necessary details.

The following are the resolutions passed yesterday by the Board:

Whereas, The late Col. M. K BRYAN, whose mortal remains are at present in our City Hall, was a valiant and faithful citizen of this State, and nobly gave his life at her call to defend our glorious Union; and

Whereas, The City of New York is proud to honor the memory of the brave and good men from this State who have sacrificed themselves on the sacred altar of their country's cause; therefore

Resolved, That a Committee of Five Members from this Board be appointed, authorized and directed to proceed with the remains of Col. BRYAN to Albany, and there attend the funeral.

Resolved, That Major Gen. SANFORD be respectfully requested to send one company of soldiers, from the military escort ordered to parade to-day at the funeral of Col. BRYAN, to proceed to Albany, as a guard of honor, with the mortal remains of that gallant and faithful officer.

The National Horse Fair.

FIFTH DAY.

The fine weather of yesterday drew quite a numerous attendance at the Fashion Course to witness the ladies' equestrian exhibition for the gold medal, and the trotting match between Butler, Fillingham and Prince. The ladies' stand was well filled with a highly respectable company, and many ladies were in carriages in the field. DODWORTH'S Band enlivened the scene, but there was only the Sheriff and posse, but no detectives, and pickpockets plied their vocation to some extent.

THE LADIES' SADDLE RACE.

This was the first event of the day, and of course excited considerable interest, the prize being a gold medal, value $200, appropriately chased and engraved. Of the five competitors who entered for the prize, but three ladies appeared—Mrs. ELLERY, of Mount Vernon, Westchester County, Miss SYLVESTER, of New-York, and Miss DAWSON, of Williamsburgh, L. I. Mrs. ELLERY rode a small-sized, spirited, unruly horse, and showed consummate skill and grace in handling him, either on the trot, hand gallop, or at full speed.

Mrs. ELLERY was dressed in the usual riding habit, with the neatest cuirass helmet-shaped blue velvet riding cap—the whole fitting her pretty figure to a charm. Miss SYLVESTER rode a large-sized white mare, Mist, and was attired in a black velvet riding dress and cap, and in the trial showed that she was an admirable equestrienne—and had she had a finer and more spirited horse there is no doubt she would have created a greater sensation. Miss DAWSON rode a fine large curvetting brown half-bred filly, Morning Glory. This lady is a graceful and spirited equestrienne.

Miss DAWSON'S riding habit and cap were exceedingly neat, and fitted her charmingly. The manner in which she sat in walking and cantering was exceedingly graceful; and, with the long, easy action of the horse—which was a great point in favor of the rider—no doubt induced the majority of the judges to award her the prize. The easy, graceful sitting and motion of this young lady in trotting was considered by the judges as more suitable for Central Park riding, than the dashing, military style of Mrs. ELLERY, whose motion accorded with that of her horse, whilst her gracefulness was never disturbed, however rapid his action. She was, in fact, a type of Grace Harkaway, as confident as she was daring.

To give an idea of the general opinion formed as to the result, 100 to 40, 50 to 20, 10 to 3 were freely offered, with no takers, that the judges would award her the gold medal, while those gentlemen were deliberating; and an indication of that opinion was given, as the ladies returned to the stand, by Mrs. ELLERY receiving the most liberal applause.

The judges were Mr. CHARLES ASTOR BRISTED, ("Carl Benson,") Mr. JOHN TOWNSHEND, and Mr. WM. TURNBULL, who, to the utter astonishment of almost every one, awarded the prize to Miss DAWSON. Such was the feeling, that an impromptu subscription was at once raised, and in a short time $250 was raised for another medal, and Capt. RYDERS was deputed by a Committee to beg the lady to allow them to procure a suitable medal. Rough as the Captain can be, he performed his duty in a neat speech, and returned to his colleagues with Mrs. ELLERY'S acknowledgments, which were gratefully given.

The next in order was the trotting match for $1,000, mile heats, best 3 in 5, in harness. The pool betting was about 100 to 30 on Butler against the field.

The judges were Mr. WM. TURNBULL, Mr. SHEPHERD KNAPP and Mr. JONES, and the time was very unsatisfactory for such first-rate horses.

THE RACE.

First Heat—Prince had the pole, Butler second and Fillingham outside; the latter led Prince into the turn by a length, Butler breaking up and falling off five lengths at the quarter pole; Prince by a fine burst round the turn, collared Fillingham on the backstretch and was side and side at the half mile, when he fell off in rear of Butler, and they passed the new stand but a length between each; in going round the three-quarter turn, Butler broke but caught again, and went at Fillingham and passed him as they swung into the home-stretch, and led over the score by a couple of lengths, Prince pulled up, time 2:29¾.

Second Heat—Prince took a strong lead at the start and the pole, Butler breaking at the quarter pole, and Fillingham as they turned into the backstretch, where Prince led at least eight lengths, with Fillingham as much more behind, Butler gradually closed up within four lengths of Prince, who broke at the three-quarter pole, and Butler won by six lengths; Fillingham, with Sam. McLaughlin looking over his shoulder, at the distance stand, last. Time—2:32½; STEVENSON, who had driven Prince, was now replaced by HORACE JONES, and MACE was driving Butler of course, Fillingham being withdrawn.

Third Heat—This was a very pretty heat, the horse running lapped along the back stretch into the three-quarter turn, where Butler broke from the pace they were going, and again and again before they swung into the home stretch, and Prince won easy—time 2:29.

Fourth Heat—Prince led three lengths to the quarter pole, from whence Butler closed up so fast that he was side and side as they approached the half mile, headed Prince just as they passed it, andled into the turn a length in front, where he broke up, and again at the three-quarter pole, where Prince led by three lengths, Butler broke up again hopelessly, and Prince won easily—time 2:29¼. It was now dusk, and after some discussion, and with the disapprobation of many on the Course, the Judges adjourned the remaining heat till to-day at 3 o'clock, HIRAM WOODRUFF and other well-known turfmen were emphatic in condemning this action, and the public were indignant at not seeing the finish of a trot for which they had already paid twice. The Judges are condemned for seemingly lending themselves to any party for the purpose of releasing them from a certain defeat had the race been trotted out before dark.

RECAPITULATION.

Gen. Butler	1	1	2	2
Prince	2	2	1	1
Robert Fillingham	3	3	d'wn

Time—2:29¼—2:32½—2:29—2:29¼.

The second match for $2,000 between Butler and Fillingham takes place on Wednesday.

Naval Movements.

INCREASE OF OUR FAST FLEET—MORE SWIFT STEAMERS TO BE BUILT.

Another new fast steamer, besides that spoken of, is to be built at the Brooklyn Navy-yard. Orders have been received from the Navy Department to commence as soon as convenient, and yesterday active preparations were begun to fit a place for her keel. That portion of the Navy-yard from which the United States steamer Mercury was launched last week is being enlarged, and the new launching-ways are in course of construction to facilitate the building of the new vessels. The new ship will be larger than nine-tenths of the vessels at present in the navy. The Department is working hard to augment our swift steamers. Already the Wambanogue, an immense vessel, is under way at the Navy-yard, under the special surveillance of Mr. DELANO. Mr. STEERS' ship, the Idaho, is also advancing steadily, and it is understood that instructions have been sent to the Navy-yards of Portsmouth, Philadelphia and Boston to begin, when convenient, new ships of war, of which great speed is to be the most prominent characteristic. The fast vessels at present in the service are nearly all loaded down with heavy batteries, which prevents them from going as quick as they might otherwise do; the Fort Jackson, for instance, was expected to make eighteen knots an hour, and our correspondent on board states that the weight of metal is so great that she cannot make more than ten or twelve.

THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE NAVY-YARD DETACHED.

Yesterday orders were received from the Navy Department, instructing Lieut.-Commander FILLEBROWNE, the Executive Officer of the Brooklyn Navy-yard, to prepare for sea service. No sooner had the intelligence become known in the yard than officers and men commenced crowding the apartments of Capt. FILLEBROWNE to deplore his contemplated removement. Few officers ever attached to the New-York Station have made so many friends for themselves as Mr. FILLEBROWNE, and the general opinion is that the interests of the Government would not be advanced by his removal.

A FLEET ORDERED TO SEA.

The following naval vessels, now at the Brooklyn Navy-yard, have received instructions to prepare for sea as soon as possible, and depart for different destinations: The United States steamer Paul Jones, which arrived from the South Atlantic blockading squadron; the steam gunboat Sonoma, which arrived here some time since; the steam transport Fah-Kee; the steamer Richmond, late of the Mississippi fleet; the Mary Sandford, Adams Express steamer, and other vessels. The number of vessels returning from squadrons lately has rendered it incumbent on the authorities to fit out ships to replace them, which keeps our yards very busy. The United States steam gunboat Dacotah, having undergone a thorough overhauling at Baltimore, will sail in two or three days to join the blockade fleets. Vessels from Boston and Philadelphia are also under orders to go away, so that by the end of the present week some ten or twenty men-of-war will have been detached.

The Draft in the Tenth District.

The draft in the Tenth District commences to-morrow. A portion of the district will be a good place for substitutes, a large number of our wealthy business men being residents, and many certain to be drawn. The following is an official notice:

FROM PORT royal.

Arrival of the Empire City.

The U. S. transport Empire City, Capt BAXTER, from Port Royal Sept. 18, to U. S. Quartermaster—sailed in company with transport Mississippi, for New-York, having in tow the steamer Cossack—arrived yesterday. She left the steamer Fulton, to sail for New-York 20th.

Not a word new from Charleston. Health of the troops excellent. But few casualties.

A CONGRATULATORY ORDER FROM GEN. GILLMORE.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH,
HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD,
MORRIS ISLAND, S. C., Sept. 15.

It is with no ordinary feeling of gratification and pride that the Brigadier-General commanding is enabled to congratulate this army upon the signal success which has crowned the enterprise in which it has been engaged. Fort Sumter is destroyed. The scene where our country's flag suffered its first dishonor you have made the theatre of one of its proudest triumphs.

The fort has been in possession of the enemy for more than two years, has been his pride and boast, has been strengthened by every appliance known to military science, and has defied the assaults of the most powerful and gallant fleet the world ever saw. But it has yielded to your courage and patient labor. Its walls are now crumbled to ruins, its formidable batteries are silenced, and, though a hostile flag still floats over it, the fort is a harmless and helpless wreck.

Forts Wagner and Gregg—works rendered memorable by their protracted resistance and the sacrifice of life they have cost—have also been wrested from the enemy by your persevering courage and skill, and the graves of your fallen comrades rescued from desecration and contumely.

You now hold undisputed possession of the whole of Morris Island, and the city and harbor of Charleston lie at the mercy of your artillery from the very spot where the first shot was fired at your country's flag and the rebellion itself was inaugurated.

To you, the officers and soldiers of this command, and to the gallant navy, which has coöperated with you, are due the thanks of your commander and your country. You were called upon to encounter untold privations and dangers, to undergo unremitting and exhausting labors, to sustain severe and disheartening reverses. How nobly your patriotism and zeal have responded to the call the results of the campaign will show, and your Commanding-General gratefully bears witness.

Q. A. GILLMORE,
Brig.-Gen. Commanding.

Williamsburgh.

FATAL AFFRAY IN BROOKLYN, E. D.—A MAN KILLED WITH A CHAIR-LEG.

Yesterday morning early an affray occurred at the corner of South Fourth and First streets, Brooklyn, E. D., by which a man named CONRAD FRISTER lost his life. It appears that a party of men partially intoxicated, left the lager-beer saloon of THOMAS THOSA on the above corner, and while talking about the history of the Union army a dispute arose between them, and some odious epithets were used, and knives drawn. A man named RAWLINGER, alias THING was in the party, and believing himself insulted, he procured a chair-leg, with which, after further provocation, he hit FRISTER four or five blows on the head, one of which struck him on the left temple and felled him to the ground. Before he could be removed to the Station-house he died. The assailant and a man named VAIS were arrested. All were German and unmarried. Coroner BARRETT will hold an inquest on Thursday next, after the result of the post-mortem shall have been announced.

The Draft in Pennsylvania—Politics.

EASTON, Penn., Monday, Sept. 21.

The draft for the Eleventh Congressional District of Pennsylvania commenced this morning in Easton, and progressed quietly, with a large concourse of people in attendance, among whom the best feeling prevailed. The conscripts generally accepted a red ribbon badge, and enjoyed themselves considerably.

Gov. CURTIN arrived here at noon, and spoke to an immense assembly. Judge WOODWARD, the Democratic nominee for governor, was here Saturday, and spoke at the Democratic club-room in the evening.

READ.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 345 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs the system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 856 3d-av.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with congulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ,

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shewn in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

It is well known to the Medical Profession that IRON is the VITAL PRINCIPLE or LIFE ELEMENT of the Blood. This is derived chiefly from the food we eat; but if the food is not properly digested, or if from any cause whatever the necessary quantity of Iron is not taken into the circulation, or becomes reduced, the whole system suffers. The bad blood will irritate the heart, will clog up the lungs, will stupefy the brain, will obstruct the liver, and will send its diseased-producing elements to all parts of the system, and every one will suffer in whatever organ may be predisposed to disease.

It is only since the discovery of that valuable combination known as PERUVIAN SYRUP that the great power of this VITALIZING AGENT over disease has been brought to light.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP
is a PROTECTED solution of the PROTIXIDE of IRON.

His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

THE EUROPEAN NEWS.

safely assume that the transaction is not unlawful, and that investigation is superfluous; but if the former hypothesis is sufficient to sustain intervention on the part of Government, we certainly do not wonder at the "anxious inquiries on the subject" which the authorities have instituted.

We are still left, therefore, in a state of doubt. We do not know what is the evidence for which Ministers have been so anxiously inquiring. We see that, whatever it may be, they have not been successful in obtaining it, but whether they think it lawful or unlawful to build vessels like these, and sell them purely in the way of trade, we cannot discover. If, however, the law on the subject is actually such as our correspondents have affirmed, and as Lord RUSSELL, in the first passage of his letter appears to believe, we must take leave to say that it is utterly nugatory. In these days there is hardly a chance that any body of Englishmen would set out on such filibustering expeditions as the law confines itself to forbidding, and if nothing but the absence of this personal participation in the adventure is required to render the sale of steam-frigates lawful, it will be very hard to prove anything against it. No British shipbuilder is likely to turn buccaneer in his own proper person, or to leave the Clyde or the Mersey for a spell of fighting on the high seas. If it is only an adventure of that character that is forbidden, the case will be in a very small compass; but then we find it impossible to understand how we could have stopped the Alabama even if we had caught her, or on what grounds we requested the Americans to stop the sale of a ship to the Russians in our last war.

As things now stand, there seems to be a kind of moral obligation making itself felt in advance of the law. We have had the law laid down, if not with undisputed accuracy, at any rate with perfect precision, but we have found nobody venturing to stand openly on the doctrine. No shipbuilder has yet plainly said—what, according to these principles, he might say: "I am building this ship to order, as I believe, of the Confederate Government, but as soon as I have delivered it and got my money for it I shall wash my hands of the business. I have nothing to do with the purposes to which it may be turned. My trade is to sell ships of war, and I sell them. What becomes of them I neither know nor care. I suspect this vessel is for JEFFERSON DAVIS, but I shall be happy to build another to-morrow for ABRAHAM LINCOLN." Now, according to the law as we have had it expounded, this would be a perfectly sufficient defence. The builder may build, exactly according to his customer's instructions, an iron ship or a wooden one, a turret ship or a broadside ship, a mediator or a Warrior. He may make her a light frigate or a heavy ram, and give her in short, any offensive or defensive capacity, according to order. All he has to do is to preserve the purely commercial and impartial character of the transaction, and he is a free agent. But either this is not the law, or nobody is bold enough to act upon it. It seems practically confessed that such a doctrine could never be maintained. There is either a restriction somewhere, or there ought to be. Confederate steamers have certainly been built in British ports, but they have not been built with a declared purpose and in the open way of lawful trade. We consider this state of things exceedingly undesirable. The disguises applied to the vessels under construction, and the anxious, though ineffectual efforts of Government to obtain warrant for interfering, give an ugly look to the whole business. If the sale of such ships is really unlawful, the law ought to be more effectual for prevention. If it is not unlawful, or unlawful only on the improbable condition shown defined, it concerns us more nearly than any other nation to get the law thoroughly revised.

THE REPORTED ARMING OF HALF A MILLION NEGROES BY THE REBELS.

The news by the Hibernian that the rebel Government had decided on arming half a million negroes, was received with some distrust in England. Although the rumor has since been proved false, the manner in which the project was discussed is of interest.

The Daily News says:

"Supposing the announcement to be true, however, the doom of the Confederacy is sealed. The policy the Richmond Government is said to have adopted is, as its members know perfectly well, the policy of blank despair. The negro is the last card in their desperate game; and if the reckless gamblers who would have ruined half a continent to gratify their mad and criminal ambition have nothing but the negro left, the game is already played out and lost. No act could better prove to the world the total and ignominious failure of the Confederate enterprise. Should the Southern Government raise and equip negro regiments, it would simply recruit the Northern armies, and render conscription in the Federal States less necessary. But, in resolving to make the attempt, Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS would sacrifice all that the Southern Government could in any case hope to save from the common ruin—their consistency and fidelity, not only to their own solemn professions, but to the code of Southern honor."

The Manchester Examiner says:

"On the assumption that it is true, philanthropic sympathies will be flung higgledy-piggledy. The negroes will all be fighting for their freedom, but the Southern negroes will be fighting for freeholds into the bargain. Emancipation is excellent, but emancipation with fifty acres of land is much better. Freedom and a snug little farm! The prospect is absolutely overpowering. President LINCOLN will have to make a higher bid, and promise the negroes estates in Nevada, Colorado or Texas. Armies of negroes fighting on opposite sides will offer a curious spectacle to the friends of the colored race. Seriously, however, the status of the negro is improving. To turn him into a soldier is to conform to one of the conditions upon which the world accords respect. Notwithstanding the taint of color, a man who has stood face to face with an enemy, and sent him to his grave, running the risk of being sent there himself, is not to be treated with contempt. It is becoming clearer than ever that the war will finish Slavery, but what else it may do or not do is among the secrets of the future."

The Manchester Guardian says:

"There is no fear that this great concession of material interest by the Confederate States will be misunderstood. Whenever it is made, no one will think of ascribing it to philanthropic principle as defined by European ethics. It will be dictated by necessity, and whatever merit it claims will belong to it as an offering on the shrine of patriotic duty. * * * * Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS' practical rejoinder to the 'Emancipation Decree' and the levy of black troops in the North will therefore stand on quite as good a moral footing as the hostile measures which have called it forth. It will be a surrender to unwelcome necessity only resorted to as preferable to defeat the great objects really contended for in the war. The condition of the negroes emancipated as a reward for military service in the South will, moreover, be at least as good as that of the blacks in the States of the Union, in none of which—with the single exception of Vermont—do they enjoy equal civil and political rights, notwithstanding the readiness with which their services are enlisted and the pretensions made on their behalf.

The London Morning Post thinks that, independently of the obvious importance of such a measure in directly strengthening the hand of the Confederate commanders, there are many other considerations which combine to render the present resolution a masterpiece of policy. The great experiment is one not free from difficulty, but it may possibly prove conclusive to the issue of the war, both by reason of the immense reinforcements which it may place at the disposal of LEE and BEAUREGARD, and through the advantageous moral impression which it will, on so many grounds, exercise on the various views and policy of Europe.

THE FALL OF FORT SUMTER.

From the Times, Sept. 8.

The shelling of the city has already commenced; but, so far as it can have gone yet, it is a mere act of barbarity. Hardly sufficient time is said to have been allowed for the women and children, or even for the subjects of foreign Powers, to escape. The destruction of the city, even by long-ranging fire, may greatly depress the South, as it will certainly fill the North with all the fury of satisfied revenge. But, as a Southern journal says, the mere shelling of the city and the destruction of empty houses are of minor importance. The final struggle must be between the forces under Gen. BEAUREGARD and the troops of Gen. GILLMORE, and if the latter can be assisted by the gunboats the contest must be unequal.

If Charleston falls at last, and the Federals are able to occupy the hated spot, there is no doubt it will be a terrible disaster to the Confederates. Its possession will cut the connection between Wilmington and Savannah, and enable the Federals to treat some part of South Carolina as they have already treated Mississippi and Louisiana. The mere closing of Charleston as a port of entry will be a great injury to the Confederates. A brisk trade was carried on in the harbor, and even while the terrible bombardment of the 23d was going on two blockade runners are said to have entered. Indeed, the worst result of the possession of the seaport towns on the Atlantic by the Federals would be that it would enable them still further to prevent supplies of arms or of the necessaries of life reaching the Southern population. That was the great danger of the South from the first, and a wiser policy at Washington would probably have avoided the vast waste of men and money that has taken place in the maintenance of enormous armies for the invasion and occupation of Southern territory, and would have thrown all the energies of the North into the maintenance of a blockade sufficiently strict to prevent the South receiving any important supplies from abroad. The Federals are conscious that this has been the weak point in their attack, and when Mr. SEWARD complains so bitterly that the South has received support and favor from abroad, this is the feeling he really expresses. The North would have liked us to have done their blockading work for them by not allowing our merchants to supply the demands of the South. They are aware that it was of cardinal importance to them to prevent this, and they are angry with us because we have not prevented it for them. But they ought to have looked after their own business better. It is the mere intemperate passion of an unguided Democracy to be infuriated with us because they have not taken care of themselves.

From the London Star, Sept. 8.

A Southern paper complains, with amusing simplicity, that the Yankees get the largest possible guns to carry the heaviest possible shot—themselves keeping out of range of the Confederate artillery. If the men who are thus overmatched were fighting in a good cause, we could profoundly pity them for the inferiority of their weapons. But it is not at Charleston that Southern men can ask the sympathy or the commiseration of Englishmen. Charleston has made itself infamous by the boldness of its blasphemy and its crime. It is a nest of man-stealers and woman-flogers. It is the ringleader in rebellion against a Government that excelled all others in the freedom it secured to its subjects. It is the capital of the new civilization—the cathedral of the new religion. It is the type and corner-stone of the doctrine that liberty and equality are hateful. It has set itself against all that we count true in morals and valuable in fact. If it perish, it will perish only in the hardihood of audacious wrong.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

THE CASE OF MR. BELSHAW.

Mr. BELSHAW, the British subject who was treated with so much barbarity by the Confederates, because, being conscripted at Montgomery, Ala., he refused to serve in their army, has addressed a letter to Earl RUSSELL on the subject. He simply states the circumstances under which he came to be in Alabama, and narrates the gross cruelties to which he was subjected, and concludes by asking his Lordship to demand indemnification on his behalf for the loss and sufferings he has undergone.

THE TRADE BETWEEN WILMINGTON AND THE BERMUDAS.

The steamer Merlam had arrived at Liverpool with Bermuda dates to the 24th August, and nearly 1,000 bales of cotton. When she left Bermuda the blockade breakers Juno and Florida were in the harbor, having again successfully run the blockade of a Southern port. The trade between Wilmington and Bermuda was rapidly increasing, and hardly a day elapsed without one or two arrivals from and departures for Wilmington. An immense stock of cotton was accumulating at Bermuda in consequence of some of the heavier blockade-runners preferring that port to Nassau, the latter now being deemed rather dangerous, owing to the Federal cruisers.

THE SUMTER RUNS THE CHARLESTON BLOCKADE.

The celebrated Sumter, alias Gibraltar, ran the blockade of Charleston on the morning of the 23d ult. She had on board two 600-pounders and four 200-pounders.

THE QUEEN.

Queen VICTORIA left Germany on the 7th for England. Her Majesty is represented to have been much benefited by the repose she has enjoyed.

SMALL VESSELS-OF-WAR.

Admiral DAVIES, of the Channel fleet, and the officers of his squadron, were recently entertained by the Corporation of Glasgow. After the banquet he made a brief speech, in the course of which he said: "The great question in case of war would not be, how many iron-clads we had, but what nation would sweep the seas of its opponents? He had seen yards there that could build a vessel in a year, he meant such a vessel as the Royal Oak. These, however, were not the vessels we should want. We should want hundreds of vessels like the Alabama, that everybody had heard of, and which the Americans were now suffering from. He did not mean to reflect on the Admiralty in adverting to this question of small vessels. It would be very unbecoming in him if he did, for he knew that the Duke of SOMERSET, in a speech he made recently, was exactly of the same opinion he had expressed."

THE CONFEDERATE LOAN.

From the London Standard, Sept. 8.

The Confederate Loan, in consequence of the news in the early hours of business, receded at once to 25 to 30 discount. The quotation then went to 30, buyers, and afterwards again slightly rallied, being eventually marked 30 to 28 discount.

FRANCE AND AUSTRIA.

THE MEXICAN QUESTION.

WILL THE ARCHDUKE MAXIMILIAN ACCEPT?

Correspondence of the London Times.

The Emperor NAPOLEON'S departure for Biarritz, first announced for the 7th, and then postponed till the 10th, may very possibly, it is now said, be still further delayed. Cabinet councils have been frequent since His Majesty's return from Chalons, and there seems to be a great deal going on in high places. It is not, I believe, any one great question that thus occupies the Government, but several of more or less interest. There is reason for believing that the Mexican affair is prominent among them. Will the coolness that has arisen between Paris and Vienna—and which really exists, although its degree has been exaggerated in certain journals—be likely to diminish the probability of the Archduke's acceptance of the Mexican crown? Some persons would fain have us believe that the Franco-Prusso-Russian alliance, of which there has been such great talk lately, has much to do with the deliberations of the Emperor and his Ministers. All that has been said about that alliance is entirely premature. That the idea of it has been conceived, and that efforts have been made in that direction, is doubtless true, but it is erroneous to affirm that those efforts have already produced a positive and important result. As regards the present situation of affairs, it may perhaps best be summed up by saying that France is not yet so detached from the Powers with which she has lately been acting for an alliance or an understanding approaching to it to have come about between her and the other two great Powers. Such an alliance is not likely to be effected by M. BISMARCK'S desperate scrambles to retrieve the wretched position he has made for himself and his Sovereign in Europe, but only by great concessions to Poland on the part of Russia. When you hear of these having been made, you may begin to attach credit to the reports of an alliance, which some persons have lately told us us is already as good as entered into, although those same persons now begin to speak less confidently. As regards the feelings entertained toward Austria there seems no doubt that in the highest quarters here, there existed the delusion that Austria, even when England stood still, would still go on arm and arm with France, and would not recoil from a war in company. M. DE METTERNICH is considered to be in great measure the cause of the French Government having been thus misled, and you will remember that some time ago it was stated that he had been checked in Vienna for the lengths to which his partiality to France was leading him.

It is rumored in Paris this afternoon that the French naval force on the coast of Mexico is about to be increased. This may be taken in connection with what I have above mentioned, that the affairs of Mexico, and the complications they may lead to, have formed one of the subjects that have chiefly engaged the attention of recent Cabinet councils. There are persons who think there is yet a chance that the Mexican business may lead to great advantage for the Confederate cause in America, and this notwithstanding that the representations on the subject made from Washington to Paris are reported to have been very mild.

As regards the decision of the Archduke MAXIMILIAN, it seems probable that this month will not expire without its becoming positively known. At least, it is expected that the Mexican deputation sent to wait upon him will arrive in France in ten or twelve days, having sailed from Vera Cruz on the 16th ultimo, and will leave Paris on the 20th instant for the Archduke's residence near Trieste, to hand him the decree of the Mexican Notables and ask him to go and reign over them as soon as possible. It is said they want very much to have him installed in his capital by the 1st of January. Three of the eight persons who are to form the deputation are already in France.

MORE SPECULATIONS.

Correspondence of the London News.

PARIS, Sunday, Sept. 6.

The Pays is instructed to give out that there is now no doubt whatever of Archduke MAXIMILIAN'S acceptance of the offered crown. This assertion coincides with a rumor which some of the Government organs sedulously circulate that the Emperor of Austria having failed in his object at Frankfort is now frightened at the threatened loss of the French alliance, and feels the necessity of doing his best to propitiate NAPOLEON III. On the other hand, the Nation, a young journal, which occasionally gives evidence of mysterious inspiration, says that in spite of the tenderness with which Austria is yet treated in official spheres, it "thinks it knows" that the Government no longer places any serious reliance on the concurrence of the Cabinet of Vienna in the solution of the Polish question, and that it sees with much pleasure the efforts making by Prussia to obtain concessions from Russia, which that power seems disposed to make. It is hard to know where the truth lies. The rumors accredited in "well informed circles" are of a most contradictory character. Upon the whole, however, I think there can be no doubt of a serious coolness between France and Austria; and notwithstanding the confident assertion of the Pays, I entertain very great doubt whether the Archduke Maximilian will be permitted to share the very bad mess in which the Emperor Napoleon has got himself into in Mexico.

In connection with this momentous subject, the following passage in the Independance Belge is worth attention:

"Notwithstanding the denials of the fact that Mr. DAYTON has made observations to M. DROUYN DE LHUYS on the subject of the establishment of a monarchy in Mexico, I am assured that the question has been verbally discussed, though in a moderate form, by the representative of this Government at Washington. Mr. DAYTON has reminded the French Minister of Mr. SEWARD'S declaration of March 3, 1863, and has protested by anticipation against any change in the Government of Mexico by foreign interference."

The pamphlet, of which I sent a long analysis on Thursday, is well described by the Independance as "a heap of contradictions, erroneous assertions, false notions, adventurous prognostics, and incoherent political views." Nevertheless, it has made so much sensation in Paris that the Pays has been ordered to relieve the Government from the responsibility of it by the following gingerly declaration: "We have read this pamphlet. We do not think it possible to attribute to it any official origin. Moreover, we have not remarked in it any new view, and it does not appear to us to deserve the noise which has been made about it."

It is worth while to observe how carefully the Pays abstains from inflicting a single word of blame upon the doctrines of the pamphlet, which advocates the recognition of the South as a necessary complement of the conquest of Mexico. All that the Pays objects to is, that unnecessary sensation has been made by arguments which are "not new," and which the Pays would insinuate are so true that no one thinks of disputing them. The fact is, that the pamphlet, whoever may be its author, does accurately represent the wishes, at least, if not the designs of the French Emperor. A robust faith in the Sonora mines as an inexhaustible source of wealth is said to have possession of the mind of the sovereign who, we are told (and most justly told) by the pamphlet, is personally responsible for the Mexican expedition. It has been reported on the Bourse that at some of the recent ministerial councils M. FOULD and M. ROUHER ventured to say very energetically, that the mines in the eyes of men of business were not worth sixpence as a security. Their unromantic opinions, however, were overruled, and inasmuch as France is to stand surety, the subscribers to the Mexican loan need not trouble themselves about the validity of the principal pledge.

Although some journals state that the Count DE MONTHOLON, the late Consul at New-York, who has been called home to be made Ambassador to Mexico, will not go out so long as the Government of that country remains in a provisional state, the France announces that, by desire of the Emperor, he will proceed to his new post immediately.

THE LAST BROCHURE—MR. SEWARD'S CIRCULAR.

Correspondence of the London Star.

PARIS, Sunday, Sept. 6.

To-day's Siècle refuses to believe that the late brochure on Mexico is a declaration of the Emperor's policy. It cannot think that the Imperial Government would now recognize the Confederate States, they being evidently on the brink of destruction. But the expression of this doubt is far from being sincere. It is but a safe way of blaming the retrograde foreign policy of the Cabinet of the Tuileries. Were a more direct mode adopted, an avertissement, or most probably suspension, would be the penalty. M. GUERROULT, in a covert way, expresses an opinion that nothing is more logical than that the ally of the Czar should be the ally of Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS, and that when MOURAVIEFF'S atrocities can be passed over in silence by the Emperor it is consistent in him to support the slaveholders of the Confederate States. From the brochure to which I allude one may gather that no intention is entertained of recalling the army of occupation from Mexico, whatever there may be of recalling Marshal FOREY. France, the author says, has run after no vain glory. In short, the only idea for which her soldiers fought across the Atlantic is that of an extension of territory with the end of keeping the United States from spreading themselves beyond their actual limits. But from the arrière pensée which we can detect throughout this publication it is evident that France desires to curtail them also of many of the States already in their possession.

Mr. SEWARD'S last circular has not been well received by the French Government. In the Moniteur, no less than in each of the semi-official organs, the Times' remarks on it have been published in the same column.

THE ARCHDUKE MAXIMILIAN.

"The deputation," says La France, "appointed by the Assembly of Notables of Mexico to wait on the Archduke MAXIMILIAN, is composed of eight persons. Three of the members—M. GUTTIERES DE ESTRADA, the President, M. JOSE MARIA HIDALGO, and M. ANTONIO ESCANDON—are already in France. The five others embarked on the 16th ult., at Vera Cruz, on board the Tampico, which is expected at St. Nazaire about the 16th inst. The deputation will leave Paris on the 20th for the chateau of Miramar, near Trieste, where the Archduke resides, to deliver to him the official decree of the Assembly of Notables, and to solicit him to accept the crown of Mexico. If the Prince consents, he will be requested to go as soon as possible to reside in the midst of the people who have chosen him, and great importance is attached to his taking the direction of affairs from the 1st of January next."

The Memorial Diplomatique again announces the acceptance of the throne by the Archduke MAXIMILIAN, and adds:

"Since the opening of the negotiations the Archduke has only stipulated two conditions, viz.: Spontaneous and unanimous appeal from the Mexican people, and the moral and material coöperation of the Western Powers in the establishment of a respected and stable Government."

The official Vienna Evening Post publishes the following in conspicuous type:

"It is quite natural that the development of Mexican affairs should also be watched in Austria with lively interest, after the name of a conspicuous member of the Imperial House has been brought into close connection with the question. Contradictory reports of a decision having been already arrived at affords us the opportunity of declaring that we are again able to affirm the position stated by us upon the 4th ult. to be in no way changed."

THE RUMORED LOAN.

The Pays asserts that the Mexican loan will really be in the market in a short time. Negotiations to that end, it is reported, are going on with capitalists in England and France. Part of the loan will be used to reimburse the French Government, a portion to pay the debts due to foreign Powers, and the remainder devoted to the reorganization of Mexico.

The Gazette de France gives the following particulars of the rumored Mexican loan: It is to consist of seven hundred millions of francs, whereof two hundred will be appropriated to indemnify France for the costs of the intervention, and the remaining five hundred will provide for the necessities of the new Government to be installed in Mexico. The loan is to be charged upon the Sonora mines, and guaranteed by France, and it will be negotiated with German, English and French bankers.

GEN. MARQUEZ HONORED.

An imperial decree appoints the Mexican Gen. MARQUEZ Commander of the Legion of Honor.

The City Article of the London Times says of this:

"Much surprise was caused to-day by the statement from Paris that the Mexican Gen. MARQUEZ has been nominated by imperial decree Commander of the Legion of Honor. This person, who has long been one of the most energetic chieftains of the ecclesiastical party, has for distance all his competitors, including even MIRAMON, by the ferocity of his career, and stands charged with some of the worst outrages ever committed in Mexico on foreign citizens. After the fall of Vera Cruz, the fact that MARQUEZ was known to be at the head of a force in the neighborhood of the capital is stated to have spread consternation among all the inhabitants, which was appeased only by a notification that Gen. FOREY had sent orders to him not to enter. It is to be presumed that, either directly or indirectly, the Emperor NAPOLEON will cause the civilized world to be made acquainted with the reasons which are considered to have rendered the bestowal of this honor expedient; but in the absence of explanation it seems calculated to offend the moral sense which hitherto has sympathized with the French Government in their determination to put an end to Mexican horrors."

THE FLORIDA.

Correspondence of the London Star.

PARIS, Friday, Sept. 4.

The authorization which the Emperor has given the Florida to repair her hull and damaged machinery causes the most profound sensation here. Although done in the name of the law, it is regarded as little short of a recognition of the Confederate States. The cordiality which, at the desire of the Minister of Marine, the Port Admiral extended to the crew of this privateer, was not of so much consequence as the decree in to-day's Moniteur. The maritime code, while in case of the Government being neutral, strictly prohibiting "every Frenchman, under any pretence whatsoever, to aid in building or fitting out a vessel of war or privateer, belonging to either of the belligerent parties," allows such ships when weather-bound or not seaworthy to demand and receive shelter in a French harbor. This was given in a most cordial way to a ship's crew who had just destroyed a merchant vessel. The news has arrived that the saliors of the Florida carried with them the spoils of the vessel they have lately sunk, and were suffered to dispose of them. This is also a flagrant breach of the twenty-first article of the Code Napoleon. But as great an influence was brought to bear on the Brest authorities in this matter as on the Chambery gaolers when CIBRIANO DE GALA was recommended to their kindness by an agent of the Empress. The "black man" has had a busy day in enjoining the editors of the liberal journals to abstain from expressing their real opinions on this event.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Ministerial councils continued of very frequent occurrence in Paris. The Emperor presided at one on the 7th, and another was to be held on the 9th inst.

Lord CLARENDON had had an audience of the Emperor.

The French pamphlet on "France, Mexico and the Confederate States" is still debated. According to one report, the pamphlet was written at the expense of ERLANGER, the Confederate loan contractor, and was intended to support that failing speculation.

The Paris Bourse on the 7th was steady. Rentes closed at 69.30.

THE POLISH QUESTION.

The Grand Duke CONSTANTINE had returned to Warsaw, and was about to proceed from there to the Crimea. There were rumors that the Duke of Leuchtenberg would soon replace the Grand Duke CONSTANTINE in Poland.

St. Petersburgh advices represent that there was a growing hope that the peace of Europe would not be disturbed.

Engagements between the insurgents and the Russians continue to be daily reported. La France says: "We are inclined to apprehend that the party averse to an arrangement predominates in the Councils of St. Petersburgh. Some reforms will probably be conceded, but they will be of an unimportant character."

The Patrie says: "Letters received here from Berlin, treating of the attempts made by Prussia to induce Russia to make satisfactory concessions to the Western Powers, assert that they did not meet with much success. The concessions which Russia intends to make are of very little importance."

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday Sept. 9.

The Times City Article of to-day says:

"The belief gains strength that a general arrangement of the American debt will be proposed under French auspices, but it is not likely that any definite conditions will be announced until the acceptance of the throne and the formation of the new Government shall have been formally notified. Spanish Passives have advanced 1/2, viz.: 35 1/4 to 3/4 and the Internal is now at 29 3/4 to 3/4 on the faith that the Government will take some action on the subject upon the meeting of the Cortes. At the winding up of the South Sea Company in February, 1856, a sum of £44,000 was preserved, to meet any liabilities that might subsequently arise. Seven years have now elapsed, and it is proposed to distribute the final balance, which, it is said, will admit of a payment of £4 5s. per cent. to each proprietor. The increase of the Petroleum trade rapidly continues. According to the last accounts, the shipments from New-York since the beginning of the present year reached 13,500,000 gallons, valued at £1,000,000 sterling, while those from Philadelphia have been 4,000,000 gallons, value £260,000, and a large proportion of the Crude, all being sent from thence."

WILSON and seven others—was resumed yesterday, before Justice DOWLING, at the Tombs. Mrs. MARGARET LARKIN, the complainant, was subjected to a searching cross-examination. Nothing of importance beyond what appeared on the direct examination was elicited. The examination is to be resumed to-day.
